

Jan. 22, 1896.

General O. O. Howard,
Burlington, Vt.,
Dear Sir:-

I have asked the publishers to forward to you a copy of a work entitled "The Church in America and its Baptisms of Fire; being an Account of the Progress of Religion in America, in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries, as seen in the Great Revivals in the Christian Church and in the Growth and Work of various Religious Bodies."

This work on revivals and religious progress has been called out by the fact that in the hurry and bustle of this busy world in its secular affairs, in the pressing demands upon the time and studies of pastors and preachers and other Christian workers, the story of the great spiritual awakenings, so familiar to all Christians a generation ago, has mostly been lost sight of, and therefore no longer acts as an inspiration to revival and activity in the present age. It is also true that in the hue and cry of skepticism, the advancement of the great religious bodies, especially in the department of missions, is seldom brought before the minds of the Christian public except in a desultory and fragmentary way.

It is the purpose of this book to bring again and freshly before the mind some of the remarkable facts of comparatively recent religious history and activity. It will prove of especial value and usefulness to every clergyman, or other active worker, needing the fresh information and the inspiration which its pages are prepared to afford.

PART FIRST includes "The Baptisms of Fire" in the American Church, or the Story of the Religious Awakenings in the 18th and 19th Centuries. It treats of the three great Eras of Revival, connected respectively with the names (1) of Edwards and Whitefield (dating from 1740); (2) of Presidents Timothy Dwight and Edward D. Griffin, and Nettleton and Finney (from 1800); and (3) of Mr. Lanphier and the Fulton Street Prayer-Meeting and of Moody, Mills and others (from 1858).

It gives the origin, history and methods of these great Revival Movements, the great doctrines made prominent from time to time, and sketches the careers of the Great Revivalists of the three Eras.

It illustrates the work by accounts of typical Revivals in prominent Churches, and portrays the character and the tone of piety, of such representative Missionaries, Preachers, and Pastors as David Brainerd, Edward Payson and Edward N. Kirk.

It shows how the great lay organizations, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. P. S. C. E., and the Salvation Army, originated in or received their impulse from the great Lay Revival of 1858, and gives the only connected and complete histories of these organizations in brief, that are anywhere accessible. It likewise gives, for the use of Pastors and Preachers generally a full description of the Revival Methods that have been used, from the simple Preaching of the saving doctrines of grace, in the early times of the Eighteenth Century, to the elaborately organized Campaigns of Moody and Mills.

You will see then that PART FIRST contains a vast amount of information--of special value just at this crisis, when men are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that Preachers and Pastors can find nowhere else accessible.

PART SECOND, includes the growth and work of the various Religious Bodies, treating each of the various denominations under a separate chapter.

You will probably find here a better, concise account of your own Religious Denomination, than is published by that Denomination itself,--embracing its Origin, Genius, Work, and latest Statistics. You will find similar accounts of all the great leading Religious Bodies, an extended and complete comparative statistical table of all Religions in the United States, compiled by an expert from the last Census.

Many Eminent Men have assisted in preparing the material for this volume whose retrospect applies only to the English-Speaking World, and mainly to the United States of America, except as the missionary operations have led to a delineation of missionary work in other parts of the world. Indeed, no such practical Summary of Religious Work and Progress is anywhere else to be found.

The volume is illustrated with fine Portraits of the Great Religious Leaders and Revivalists of the two Centuries, in order to make the Ministry and the Laity more familiar with these men and their work, and thereby to rouse them to a sense of the need of like awakenings in our day, and to lead them to turn their attention and energies to bringing them about.

The book as a whole ought to be the very best hand-book on Revival Preaching, Revival Methods, and methods of effective Christian Work.

I have asked the publishers, the Funk & Wagnalls Company, to send you a copy of the book for examination. If you can, after somewhat carefully looking into the book, conscientiously give them an emphatic word of endorsement and commendation, the influence of your name will doubtless very greatly aid the book in accomplishing the end most earnestly desired and longed for, in helping toward that Greater Awakening more needed now, than the Great Awakening of the Eighteenth Century was needed then.

Yours very sincerely,

S B Halliday

You will find that PART FIRST contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART SECOND contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

You will find that PART THIRD contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART FOUR contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

You will find that PART FIVE contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART SIX contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

You will find that PART SEVEN contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART EIGHT contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

You will find that PART NINE contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART TEN contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

You will find that PART ELEVEN contains a very amount of in-formation of special value, and at this crisis, when we are looking for a great out-pouring of the Spirit--that the Father can send down His Spirit.

PART TWELVE contains the growth and work of the various Saints and Saints, and the various departments of the Kingdom of God.

Dear Sir,--

In reply to your favor of the 13th inst., answer to which has been delayed unavoidably, we beg to offer you Tablets such as you require, and of one of which we are sending you by express a sketch, at the price of $60.00 each net.

Should you prefer them absolutely plain, without any border whatever, we could name a price of $54.00 each.

The plate would be bronze #5 gauge, with extra bold projection of letters, finished in statuary bronze.

This latter arrangement would give more room for lettering, and if the spaces prepared for Tablets on the monument have ornamental borders, or frames cut in the stone, the plain Tablet would seem to be preferable, as ornamental bolt heads would give sufficient ornamentation.

We trust that the sketch submitted, and the price quoted, will both be pleasing to you, and that you will favor us with the order.

Nothing could have been more appropriate on your part. Many of our comrades endured the marches and privations with him during the dark days of the rebellion, and they rejoice to see his familiar face on the wall of our Post Hall grouped by the right of General Sherman, (same position he occupied [during their march to the sea]), and on the walls with Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and many others with whom he fought, most all of whom are now camping on the other side where he, with all comrades, must soon go. But we know when called he will be prepared, for no soldier has ever obtained a better christian record than that of General Howard.

My dear General:

I was talking with Eben Draper a few days ago in reference to Reed's nomination for the presidency and incidentally your name was mentioned - Mr Draper inquiring how you stood in the matter. Draper was for some time Chairman of the Republican State Committee and is a brother of Congressman Draper of my district. He is sure to go to the Convention as a delegate at large from Mass. for Reed. Mr Draper said that he thought you could be of great service to a candidate and that you could be doing good work from now on.

He said that Mr Reed was not making any promises but that his lieutenant Mr Manby was looking after his interests

Now I should like very much to have a talk with you in regard to this matter and learn your views and when Mr Mauley is next here I could bring it to his attention. ^{It might result in something.} I assume that with the rest of N.E. you will stand for Reed. Are you likely to be in Boston soon?

I received a letter from Ole in Creblee

I spent a delightful week in Atlanta at Christmas time. I have to thank you for your letters to Major Watson kind. I met there a great number of

I was impressed with Col. Buck's views

Friend Howard

I recd the list of the Seeds Soldiers that your father wished to have corrected. As I had not the means at hand to do it I have ^{sent} it to Seth Howard requesting him to do it. The list that was used by me and I think by Mr Howard was taken from the History of Andruscoggin County
I have ^{made} a few corrections myself of those that have died since the war closed
