Dear Sir:-

At the request of Capt. Jack Crawford I forward you two pound packages of our Crystallized Egg, which, although your field days seem to be over, may prove of interest to you.

Mrs. Gen. Custer in her book "Boots and Saddles" states that she found Crystallized Egg the most valuable part of the army stores, and since then it has been very much improved. All that is necessary is to be sure that it is thoroughly dissolved, which will require full half hour if stirred a little.

Yours very truly,

My dear General:
I am

in receipt of a letter from your Secretary, accepting our invitation for you to deliver a lecture at this place.
The date fixed for the same is July 10th 1898, your best route to this place from Chicago, is over the Rock Island R.R. to West Liberty, Ia. thence over the B. & N. R.R. to this place.
By this route you have a sleeping car without charge - You can leave Chicago about 4 P.M. on the 8th and arrive here about 9 A.M. on July 10th. Unless otherwise notified,

I think the lecture "Grant and his generals" will be the one selected. As you cannot leave here before night, we would like to know if you would be willing to make a short talk at a "Conf. fest."

My Dear General: I have the honor and pleasure of mailing you today a copy of the "History of the Synod of Tennessee". You will find in it much information touching the educational work of the Presbyterian church, in this section, for the past 100 years and more.

While I am writing I will say that we are hopefully expectant concerning the "Lincoln Memorial University". What do you think of the advisability of calling a conference of representatives of the various institutions, which, according to the plan proposed, it would be possible to include under the charter of the University, for the purpose of comparing views as to the basis for such inclusions? My dear General, I have the views as to the basis for such institutions?

Some of our best men advise it, and I believe it would add great strength to the enterprise.

Also what do you think of including our "Swift Memorial Institute" at Rogersville Tenn. in order to make it the school for the negro? You know something of the special endowment for Maryville College, conditioned upon the admission of the colored students, could that be transferred to the Swift Memorial Institute? In your opinion would it <sup>not</sup> be wise to consolidate our colored educational interests at that point?

My dear General:-

You have probably seen by the newspapers that I reached Paris on my way to St. Petersburg, and there resigned my position and returned home, and you may wonder what led me to such action. You knew, from what I laid before you weeks ago, that the Massachusetts Senators were anxious to keep Mr. Pierce, the present Secretary, in office. He was a classmate of Mr. Lodge, a cousin of his wife's, and the son of an old friend of Senator Hoar's. The whole thing had been considered before I was named for the place, and Mr. Hitchcock, the Minister, fell in with their plans, because, of course, it made it much easier for him to have a man in that position who was entirely familiar with the duties.

Both Mr. Hitchcock and the Senators brought all kinds of pressure to bear upon the President to have my appointment withdrawn, and made it very uncomfortable for me when I was in Washington; in fact, Mr. Hitchcock cabled Senator Frye of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate to prevent my confirmation, in spite of the fact that the President and State Department asked for it and had cabled him that the appointment must stand. Our Senators were obliged to give way, because they knew that they couldn't make a successful issue and that to oppose my confirmation in view of the backing I had was to place themselves in a bad light.

My dear General:-

You have probably seen by the newspapers that I need a little money to go to St. Petersburg, and there remained by the way of my return home, and you may wonder what led me to such action. You know, from what I said before you weeks ago, that the Massachusetts Senators were anxious to keep Mr. Plumer, the present

Secretary, in office. He was a champion of Mr. Lodge, a cousin of his wife, and the son of an old friend of Senator Hoar's. The whole thing had been considered before I was named for the place, and Mr. Hitchcock the Minister, told in with their plans, because, of course, it was not another for him to have a man in that position who was entirely unfamiliar with the duties.

Both Mr. Hitchcock and the Senators brought all kind of pressure to bear upon the President to have my appointment reversed. It was very unfortunate for me when I was in Washington the fact, Mr. Hitchcock called Senator Hoar of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate to prevent my confirmation, in spite of the fact that the President and State Department asked for it and had called him and the appointment must stand. Our Senators were obliged to give up, because they knew that they couldn't take a successful issue and

When the position was raised to an Embassy and it was proposed to add a new Secretary, which was just before I left, they took up the cudgels again, however, to have me sent out in the second place, and this was being agitated when I sailed with my commission for the first place. Now, I supposed that after Judge Day cabled Mr. Hitchcock that the appointment must stand he would recognize the President's authority in the matter and treat me with decency. When I reached Paris, I received a letter there from him couched in the most aggressive and insulting terms. He claimed that when we had our interview in New York I agreed not to take the place unless it was entirely agreeable to him; that I agreed to leave the matter entirely to his determination after he reached Russia; that I stated that I would not take the place unless I could live on the salary. The first two propositions were false: the third was true. He told me that it would cost me twice the salary to maintain the dignity and obligations of the office, and, where I had expected to get annually about $1600 extra pay as Charge' above the salary of $2600, which the Ministers always give the Secretary an opportunity to earn in order to help them out, he informed me that I need expect none of it.

He even attacked my writing and spelling, and said he would not let a communication of mine go out of the Embassy. Then he finally wound up by saying that solely because of the position in which I had placed myself he had recommended me as second Secretary.

The letter was of such a character that I concluded that it would be impossible for me to get on in St. Petersburg if I held the first secretaryship, and the only dignified thing I could do was to resign.

I wired from London to the Secretary of State March 11th, "Mailed resignation today", and at the same time addressed a letter to the President stating that on consequence of a communication which I had received from Mr. Hitchcock it would be impossible for me to associate myself with the Embassy at St. Petersburg.

On the 14th, as I understand it, Mr. Pierce's name was sent to the Senate as first secretary and mine as second, as I learned when I reached Boston on the 19th.

Yesterday I received a communication from the State Department acknowledging receipt of my letter of resignation, and saying that prior to its receipt I was nominated and confirmed as second secretary of the Embassy of the United States at St. Petersburg, and asking whether I accept or decline the offer. Of course I declined, but what I should like to know is, whether the plan to withdraw my name as first secretary and to rename Mr. Pierce had consummated before I resigned, or whether his name was sent to the Senate as first secretary in consequence of the cablegram which I had sent and upon the supposition (for, of course, they had no knowledge of the grounds of my resignation) that I had decided to take the second place.

Representatives of all the Boston papers have been in my office to know why I resigned, and I decided not to talk at all, because I wasn't quite sure of my ground. The result is that the general impression has gone out as embodied in the enclosed clipping,

Dear Christian Gentleman

Being an entire stranger. I must beg pardon for calling your attention to something which at first sight may seem to concern only myself but it has become of the utmost importance for me to make strenuous efforts in behalf of my family as evidence of good faith.

I wish to call your attention to the letters of reference which I have enclosed herewith. I am as you will see a refugee. I have with the greatest difficulty escaped from Turkish barbarism after suffering the greatest outrages on doing home property and friends in Armenia.

But I have brought with me a large family more than a year ago. and have had much sickness in the last ten months. I am now 61 years old not able to work out of doors. Although I am not able to practice my profession in this country I resort therefore to the only method of earning for my family on honest lining that I have or find namely the sale of my Lords Prayer chart in 12 different languages. the price of the chart is 50¢.

I have taken the liberty of sending a copy to you hoping you would be willing to buy it for our necessity thus enabling me to keep my head above water.

I beg you not to put this aside until you have read at least my letter of reference

Hoping for a favorable consideration from your hands.

I am

yours Sincerely
Othon Gaidzokion

P. S.

If you can not help me I will be grateful if you will kindly return it to me with my postage stamps.

Lexington, Mass.,
Nov. 23d, 1896.

To any Christian Minister or Private Individual:

I wish to introduce to your kind regards Rev. Chan Gaidzakian, M. D., an Armenian refugee from Adana, Asia Minor--or rather, Northern Syria--where he has been a successful physician, and also a preacher of the Gospel, among his people in Cilicia, for more than twenty years.

He can tell his own story of the escape of himself and his family of seven, and lately also of relations, ten in number, who arrived from Marseilles, aided by Lady Henry Somerset.

The question now is, how to keep the wolf from the door?

He has certain articles and books to sell. At the same time, he is anxious to be acquainted with the spiritual welfare of his native people in the United States, and to preach the Gospel as he may come in contact with them. He will answer any questions you may ask about Turkey and the Massacres.

If you will kindly, in any way you choose, give him access to your people, he is hopeful of gaining sufficient to support himself and family, also to succeed in his purpose of Christian work. I have known him for about sixteen years as an earnest worker. I commend him to your wise advice.

(Signed) Cyrus Hamlin,
Ex-President of Robert College of Constantinople.

To whom it may Concern:

The bearer, Rev. Chan Gaidzakian, M. D., I have known him for a good many years in Asia Minor, as a preacher and practicing physician, although he has occupied a pulpit about three years under my care, namely in Neegda, and he has been an able and always faithful man. But in consequence of the late troubles in Turkey, he has with the greatest difficulty escaped from Turkish oppressions, after suffering the greatest outrages. Abandoning home, property and friends, he has with a large and dependent family come to America. Even now he has had many months of illness in his family, and the struggle to keep the wolf from the door is no mean struggle. In his efforts to earn an honorable living by the sale of his beautiful chart of "Our Lord's Prayer" in twelve different languages, and books, I would gladly if I could enlist the interest of every Christian minister and private individual. I wish for him a kindly and sympathetic reception and consideration with Christian fellowship.

This will certify that I have known Rev. Dr. Chan Gaidzakian for the past sixteen years. He is a graduate of the Medical Department of Vermont University, and has been practicing medicine in Adana, Turkish Empire, during the last fifteen years. He has been reduced to utter poverty by the plundering officials of the Turkish Empire and has been obliged to flee to this country with his family. He is endeavoring to find some way in which he can support his needy family, and is anxious to gain such support in an honorable and self-respecting way. I would bespeak for him a friendly reception from all those to whom he appeals, and can cordially testify to the entire integrity of his Christian character.

(Signed) Lewis C. Brastow,

Professor in Yale Divinity School.

To Whom it may Concern:

This will introduce the Rev. Chan Gaidzakian, M. D., who together with his family was among the refugees who escaped with their lives, but with the loss of all their property from their late home in Armenia, which the inhuman Turk has rendered desolate with fire and sword. Dr. Gaidzakian is endeavoring to support his family by the sale of a beautiful chart of "Our Lord's Prayer," in twelve different languages prepared by himself, and also by the sale of a small but very interesting book by Frederick Davis Green, on the "Armenian Crisis in Turkey."

I am well acquainted with Dr. Gaidzakian and know him to be an earnest Christian man and one worthy of assistance in his struggle to make the best of his present circumstances.

I bespeak for him a cordial reception wherever he may present this.

My dear Friend:—

Can you,

'so, I suppose that that would not put you to much trouble. The main thing at this lecture is going to be your anyway, - not what you say; and we are going to give you as big a time as our limited circumstances will permit. It will be hearty, right from our hearts, and will make up as far as we can in enthusiasm

whatever ~~we may~~ <sup>we may</sup> lack in numbers.

If we have a war, I shall,
if obliged to by my failure through other channels, ask you to help me get a staff position to anything at the very front. I don't care what my rank is. All I want is a chance to see what is in me, and if there is anything, a chance where it will be recognized and well rewarded.
Don't forget our spring
or early summer trip to Gettysburg.

I am looking forward to that
as one of the events of my life.

Mrs. Chamberlin sends her <sup>Love</sup>~~Love~~ with my own to you, and we should be very glad to have you remember us to those at home.

We want you to stay as long as you can with us.

When you come on for the 26th April. We are whooping it up already in great shape for Luc, Howard on that date, and tickets
being taken right and left.

With the greatest respect,

H. Chamberlin

General W. W. Howard,

Dear Sir,

Your letter in relation to the whereabouts of Mr Davis Garber came to me this A.M.

Since the find Mr Garber has not been able to attend to business on account of ill health

I have your negatives in my possession and can furnish photo for you at any time, I do this for Mr Garber, and turn the orders over to him.

He is now at Colorado Springs Colorado.

If you wish to order any

photos please address me.
I was in Mr Garber's employ twelve years and he has given me
all the negatives left from the film to care for.

If you find time I wish you would write him a line or two I know it will cheer him
a great deal.

In case you do address him
David Garber.
