Dear General:—

I received yours of the 28th ultimo, from Knoxville, in regard to General Brooks and his needs. I immediately saw General Corbin, General Luddington and General Flagler, and they will see that the matter is given attention. There has been a perfect flood of correspondence, and while there is no delay that can be avoided in the matter of correspondence coming up from the army, it is their intention to expedite the work and to permit no delays wherever it is possible to avoid it.

As you may have left Knoxville by this time, I will send this letter to your Burlington address.

Very truly yours,

Dear General:

I am very pleased to inform you of the Step ur-prise from Knoxville. I immediately set about to locate your former residence and the records I have located confirm your claim. I have also spoken with General Corbin and General Longstreet, and they confirm the information given to me.

They have further informed me that the matter at hand has been a point of contention for some time. Any attempt to settle the issue will no doubt be met with resistance from those who have been involved.

As you may have seen in the Knoxville paper, the city is in a state of turmoil, and the issue of the papers is being debated.

I am writing to inform you that I will be present at the opening of the papers.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

We are anxious to do something through our paper to counteract the effects of liquor-selling among the soldiers, if possible, something towards the breaking up of the canteen system. May we not have a few lines from you expressing your opinion on this important subject? They would come with much weight, and would add great weight to whatever we might say in addition. Possibly you can give us the names of a few prominent army officers that would be willing to give testimony similar to your own. We should be glad to write to them. Many mothers write to us on this subject, and we have had many reports of the injury done by liquor selling among the young men that form our volunteer army. I know you are exceedingly busy, and yet I am quite sure you will find time to grant this request.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

We are excited to announce our support for the scholarship. The recent efforts of those involved in the administration of the college have been praised, and we believe that these efforts are essential to the success of the institution. We would like to express our appreciation for your support and your commitment to the college.

Enclosed are some photographs of the college, which we hope will give you a better understanding of our organization. We would be grateful for any feedback you can provide us with.

Letter application.
My Dear General:—

I hope you are having a good time and that your health is good. I am looking up arrangements for public meetings rapidly and think we can give you a good time on your arrival here next week. We are arranging for a public meeting in the new Y. M. C. A. Building on Friday evening, June 17th — Battle of Bunker Hill Day — I will try to get Mr. Sankey to sing and very nice cards of admission will be gotten out, and every effort made to get a large audience of men and women. To meet this engagement you will have to leave Wednesday night, 15th; and probably a meeting will be arranged at Troy, N. Y. on the 16th, and then New York City on the 17th. I thought you could come home and make the 16th all right. Will wire you at Columbus regarding the matter.

We are sending a lot of supplies to the soldiers now more than ever. Have had a letter from Mr. Moody, and he says, "take all of General Howard's time during the rest of June." He also tells me that he made a mistake regarding the arrangements last Sunday.

Yours very cordially,

Major General O. O. Howard,

Dear [Name],

I hope you are having a good time at your vacation and looking forward to more.

Our current topic is the importance of maintaining a healthy lifestyle and how to achieve it.

For your consideration, I have included the following:

1. A list of healthy food options
2. Tips for exercising
3. Strategies for managing stress

I would be grateful if you could share your thoughts on how to improve our current programs.

Best regards,

My Dear Gen:-

I sent you some days ago a copy of the photograph of yourself surrounded by our teachers and students. The occasion was a memorable one and we realize every day how valuable your visit has been to us. It seems as though each of your utterances was inspired to do us good. The thoughts you dropped on different occasions have been taken up by the young men's meeting, the Church prayer meeting, and many, I know, have been carried to distant valleys and humble homes where they will be cherished for years.

You will be glad to know that before his departure, Mr. David B. Gamble, the trustee whom you met, signified his intention of giving $5,000 towards the Pearson's Endowment.

We are holding quite a thanksgiving in Berea because we were able to reach the end of our financial year—June 1st—without a deficit. The expenses of the year have been unusually great and so much of my time devoted to efforts for the Endowment that the current expense funds were seriously behind when the war came on to add a new discouragement. During the last two weeks, however, prayers and letters brought us enough to meet every obligation. And we are very grateful.

Berea is still a "faith enterprise". We do not know where the money is going from to meet the expenses of the remaining month of school,—which is counted to next year; or the summer repairs, or the work which must be done in the moun-

My dear Sir Co-Worker,

I wish you a good and a happy New Year. The occasion was a memorable one to me, for the occasion was the opening of the Verona Wesleyan Institute.

The occasion was a memorable one to me, for the occasion was the opening of the Verona Wesleyan Institute.

I cannot express too much my appreciation of the hearty welcome and enthusiastic support that I received from the students of the institute.

I have been most gratified to observe the progress that has been made in the work of the institute, and I am confident that with the earnest and unselfish cooperation of the students and the faculty, the institute will continue to grow and prosper.

I am sure that the work of the institute is a work of the Lord, and I am determined to do my utmost to further the cause of Christ and the work of the institute.

tains while the roads are good. But we believe the Lord will provide.

I shall try to get a few days of rest after Commencement and then find my way East, and hope to carry forward the work of securing endowment. We have now Dr. Pearson's pledge of $50,000, and $80,000 besides, making $130,000, conditioned upon securing $200,000 in all. This will be a very inadequate endowment for our work, but it will give a little stable income, and thus we shall have a chance to work to better advantage. These pledges have cost us time and money and effort and cannot be productive until we have secured the other $70,000. Like the Spanish war, we must fight it through as quickly as we can.

But I feel that your visit and prayers in our behalf marked a turning point in our fortunes. We have a renewed faith and consecration, and thank you and the Lord for His gracious providence.

Faithfully yours,
