Dear Friend:

Your esteemed favor of the 26th ult. was received by me in due time, and this morning for the first I am able to go to the office of my friend and dictate this letter. I am truly grateful to you for the interest you have taken and also to my friend Senator Pettigrew, and all others who have interested themselves to assist me in my endeavor to make a grateful Republic pay an honest claim. I will admit that I was careless in not filing my claim sooner, and before the act of limitation expired. The reasons for my failure was I did not know of any act of limitation; it was of very little interest to me, perhaps, at the time. Now, I take some pleasure in the fact that I am going to try and see if the Republic, through its honorable representative, will excuse my dilatoriness. It is perhaps right for me to state in this connection that after my interview with you in 1867 I did lay the matter before our representative in congress, the Hon. Gen. Avrill. He promised me at the time that he would see to it and send me the necessary blanks. The Hon. John S. Pillsbury, then governor, introduced me to Gen. Avrill, our representative at that time, and I relied upon the promise made to me by Gen. Avrill, so it kind of slipped from my mind, and I not being in the need of any money, that is any pressing need at the time, I waited for Gen. Avrill to send me those blanks, and you see I have waited too long. Now,

Now I take some pleasure in the fact that I am going to try and see if the Republic, through its honorable representative, will excuse my dilatoriness. It is perhaps right for me to state in this connection that after my interview with you in 1887 I did lay the matter before our representative in congress, the Hon. Gen. Averill. He promised me at the time that he would see to it and send me the necessary blanks. The Hon. John S. Pillsbury, then Governor, introduced me to Gen. Averill, our representative at that time, and I relied upon the promise made to me by Gen. Averill, so it kind of slipped from my mind, and I not being in the need of any money, that is any pressing need at the time, I waited for Gen. Averill to send me those blanks, and you see I have waited too long. Now, if I did not know and realize, as you know, that my claim is just to a penny I should make no effort to obtain payment of the same.

I paid cash for every item of my said account to the amount of $510.00 and the government has had it all these years. For upwards of four years I did my duty, and it was in the discharge of this very hazardous duty that I lost my property, my uniform, side arms, horse, equipment, watch, personal effects, taken from me, and had I not made my escape I would have paid the penalty incident to the nature of my business with my life, but as the old saying is when a fellow cannot get killed on scout duty it must be that he is reserved to be hung. The hanging might have occurred at that time had I waited to accommodate them.

I must now refrain from further joking in the matter, and I am quite confident that this congress will excuse my delay and do what is right and pay that claim, and I shall always feel grateful to you all and to the representatives in congress that the account has been square.

Again thanking you for your kindness, and if I can ever be of assistance to you up here in the Northwest I shall cheerfully serve you in any manner I can.

Hoping this will find you in good health, I subscribe myself,

Andrew Carnegie, Esq.,

Dear Mr. Carnegie:-

The undersigned, members of the Board of Directors of Lincoln Memorial University at Cumberland Gap, East Tennessee, and of the New York and Boston Advisory Board believe that the success of their institution is now assured.

They desire especially to develop the "Industrial Department" which is situated upon the estate of 500 acres of good land now completely paid for. The Grant and Lee Hall is already occupied. Classes in printing, in carpentry, in book-keeping and practical mechanics are being opened this month; and groups of students begin practicable farming in the spring. These industries for the boys and other industries suited to the girls will demand some new buildings and require the best of instruction. An endowment is needed to enable the institution to give pay for those who are coming from all quarters and who will be more or less dependent on work to secure their education.

Recognizing your great friendliness to industrial features in the institutions you have so generously established we would like to have you, before you close your noble work, take our enterprise which you have already aided, under further consideration. We think it will commend itself to your judgment.

As a memorial to Abraham Lincoln, as a help to youth of Scottish and Huguenot descent, there in the mountains where they have

Will not these facts warrant you, Mr. Carnegie, in making us a proposition that will aid us in raising a sum for our Industrial Department which would net us about $12,000 per annum?

In the naming, in the moulding and further shaping of said Department, the Board would like to be guided by your wishes and advice.

Heartily appreciating the magnificent educational advantages that you have already afforded to the youth of our land, we are happy to subscribe ourselves,

Dear General Howard:-

I am very greatly obliged to you for your letter of the 5th, and I do not want to labor any point which may have arisen in either yours, Dr. Martyn's, or my own correspondence. Being a Britisher, I boast my countrymen's reputation for meeting everything face to face.

I cannot remember having received from any author since I have been in this country, any expression of dissatisfaction of my treatment of them, whether in connection with publishing houses or in my own business. If I did receive any definite complaint at any time, it would have had my immediate attention. I do not even know the name of "Topping." It is the first time I have heard it. If you will remember, you and Mr. Neely settled the contract for your book between you. I had nothing whatever to do with the drawing up of such contract; all I did was to be called in consultation in respect to the selection of the title, "CAPTAIN QUARTER DECK," which was adopted.

It was, of course, very annoying to both Dr. Martyn and myself, that our names have on one or two occasions been brought up in the

Dear General Rowley:-

I am very greatly obliged to you for your letter of the 6th, and I do not want to labor any point which may have arisen in either yours, or my own correspondence. I am sorry to hear that I have not been of any use to you in connection with your work. I am sure that I have not been of any use to you in connection with your work.

I cannot remember having received from any person since I have been in this country, any expression of dissatisfaction or of interest in them, whether in connection with publishing houses or in any other way. If I did receive any definite complaint of any kind, I would have been very glad to attend to it. I do not even know the name of "Young". It is the first time I have heard it. If you will remember, you and Mr. Kelly called the contract for your book before you. I had nothing whatever to do with the drawing up of such contracts. I did not call in connection in regard to the section of the title, "MILITARY QUARTER BOOK" which was suggested. It was of course, very interesting to both Mr. Kelly and myself. I am sure that you will find it very interesting.
