Dear gen. Howard:-

I am greatly interested in the Lincoln Memorial University concerning which your note of Feb. 10th is a reminder. A little later I will be very glad to duplicate the contribution I made last year, which I trust you will receive as a token of my great interest in the institution. I wish my ability was equal to my warm interest.

I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Genl. Howard,

Your letter of the 13th just at hand. I think I shall be obliged to leave here for the present & keep well.

Expect to go to Worcester & Whitinsville tomorrow then to Dalton to see Texas Crane

I shall be disappointed if he does not subscribe at least $5000 toward the Endowment I should like to go to Chicago and see Mr. Gray and the McComicks, and then to Louisville if you think any thing could be done there 504

Have your transportation to Spake around that way?

Of course Mr Myers must sign. If necessary I could go and see him. I do not think he sympathizes with Mr Lawrence in his complaint.

If you have sent your appeal to those who have contributed within 8 months, some of them might think it strange, but most of them will doubtless understand that it is general in its nature,

I enclose a list of 100, who have not contributed. with the exceptions, possibly, of one or two. My next address will be "St Denis Hotel" N.Y.

Most sincerely yours

My dear General,

This is my ~~re~~ answer to you. Will you kindly put my Business Address on your address book. You say sometimes "138 State St" and your today's letter says only "State St". Many thanks for your letter to Editor Whitelaw Reid. I return now.

Have to say within his asking him again to be the Mass. Club's guest on Saturday, March 3<sup>d</sup>, which is one week before he starts for the Pacific Coast. If he comes would it not be a good plan for you to be here also? Please bring your uniform next time. Bundy wants you to sit in it for him.

Did you receive the two checks of $100 each from Mrs. Phoebe Jenkins and daughter that you at Burlington Vt. Mr. G. J. David asks me anxiously to say as he has no reply to his letter, nor do you refer to it in your letters to me. Possibly you may have written Mrs. L. Jenkins 10 Allen St. Boston, her residence. Mr. Fairchild goes to N.Y. to night. He has the quiff, but is plucky. Always best,
 Maj Gen. O. S. Howard.      Yours, Very sincerely,

My dear Uncle:-

Your kind letter of the 10th. inst.

enclosing a letter to you from Mr. Gridler, has just been received by me, and in accordance with your request I enclose Mr. Gridler's letter.

The suggestion of your friend, Mr. Gridler, in relation to the Philippine Commission is exactly what I wanted and employment in connection with the Commission would be most satisfactory to me, in that I could probably bring to bear upon the work some of the results of past experience.

I have a fair knowledge of the Spanish language, having spoken it, more or less, all the time I was in Manila. Should there be a prospect of my returning there I can easily perfect my knowledge so as to be of great assistance to any one with whom I might be associated.

As to my standing as a lawyer I can procure a favorable statement from both our District Judges and probably one from the Republican member of the Supreme Court of this State. As to my army record and all of the officers of the former Ist. Regt. would gladly assist me. Our Colonel, now Major H. Boy of the 4th U.S.V. is, I understand, military governor of Cuba or one of the northern islands. Our relations have always been very cordial and he at one time offered to assist me in procuring a commission in one of the new regiments. I see now that it might have been better for me to have made an effort in that direction, which at the time would probably have been successful. There were several reasons which prevented my doing so at the time, which then appeared sufficient.

Outside of Mr. Wolcott, the one man who has the most influence in this State is Mr. Howbert, Collector at Denver, and I am sorry to say that at one time we were in different factions of the Republican party, in local politics. What effect this will have upon him and his influence with Mr. Wolcott, I cannot say. A friend of mine and of Mr. Wolcott's has called upon Mr. Howbert and I shall know his status in a few days.

I am more or less intimate with Mr. Vaile, Mr. Wolcott's law partner, having known him for years, and I believe he will gladly do all in his power to assist me.

If Mr. Cridler will not forget that he has told you that he will help you in every way that he can and will keep you informed of the situation, I believe that I may be able to get a secretaryship in the Commission, provided there are secretaries to be appointed. I can depend upon Mr. Shafroth, U.S. Representative from this State, as he is an old friend and he has offered to recommend me should the occasion arise. He will, however have little influence as he was elected on the Silver Republican ticket.

I am very anxious to procure an appointment and in such a situation as is suggested, I believe that I can give entire satisfaction.

I was very much interested in reading your article on the situation in South Africa published in the North American Review. The English have a very different proposition from any that confronted us in the Philippines.

This is Otis' thirty sixth birth day. It makes me feel old when I realize it and when I realize how little I have accomplished.

A delightful letter from Cousin Olive told me of your visit with the Hazards, and of the fact that she has a grand daughter living in Colorado Springs. I will make it a point to call on the grand daughter. My wife and family are living about twenty five miles from Colorado Springs, so that I am frequently in that city.

Very Respectfully and Affectionately Yours,

David P. Howard

March 5th, 1900.

Dear Mrs. Cridler:

Utterly independent of the fact that David P. Howard, (late Captain of Colorado Volunteers) is my brother's son, I confidently believe that a man of his integrity and fitness and candor would be of great service in any position in the Philippines to which he could be sent. I cannot take the laboring oar in this case, neither can you. He is a scholarly man, a good lawyer and was a superb soldier and, had not the republicans been defeated, would have been a judge in Colorado of the right sort. If you can in any way ~~do some-~~ ~~thing~~ do something for him, I am very sure you would be doing the Country service.

Dear General Howard:

It is with much reluctance that I again write to you. You may possibly recall that more than a year ago I wrote to you under Mrs W. P. Coster's inroduction. I then asked you if you would give me a letter or card which might aid me in obtaining a pension for the mother of Lt. Col.
Taft - who was killed at ~~the~~

The battle of Missionary Ridge under your command.

The mother now being past eighty years of age, a cripple from hip-fracture and superly dependant. You kindly wrote me a much valued letter expressing your appreciation of Col. Taft's valor & services and your desire that his mother should have a pension. I was advised in Washington to lay your letter before the Senator from Washington State - Mr Wilson - in which ~~State~~ (Seattle Wash.) Mrs Taft resides - together with a letter from her physician stating her helpless state -

The Senator was about leaving when I left Washington & your letter <sup>sent by the Senator</sup> could not be found by his secretary. <sup>so I lost it!</sup>

I have done all in my power to get the facts of the case before the since I have heard anything and I have been most reluctant to write to you again.

but my duty to Mrs Taft as a friend who knew her son and his thoroughly patriotic career. urges me to again ask if you could do any thing to get this matter urged forward. (It is now about thirteen months since the application was made)

<sup>some weeks ago</sup> I wrote to Mr Evans (Commissioner of pensions asking him why - in what cause - the delay continues. I have reason to believe that I know all of her circumstances and the merits of the case. but my letter has not be honored with the slightest notice.

Mrs Taft still hopes for the ease of merit & circumstances which a little pension could give. It would at least give some satisfaction to know why it fails to come.

Hoping I have not too much worried you by my

Cumberland Gap,
Feb 15th 1900

Genl O. O. Howard

Burlington, Nt

Dear General Howard

It is my design in this letter to give a plain, truthful statement of the ancestry, characteristics and social conditions, of the mountain people of East Tennessee, South Western Virginia and South Eastern Kentucky.
After the suppression of the "Tone Rebellion" of 1798, and the "insurrection of Robert Emmet" in 1803, large number of with their families leading Irishmen, both Catholic and Protestant left Ireland and came to America.

About this time the fertile vallies and rich rivers bottom of East Tennessee and South Western Virginia had become known to the "Irish Immigrant Aid Society of Philadelphia" and in less than a half century not less than a hundred stations or rendezvous were formed in Powell's Valley, which is bounded North by the <sup>and</sup> Cumberland Mountains for over one hundred miles; in Bean Station Valley, which is bounded North by the Allegheny Mountains for one hundred miles, and then along the rich, alluvial bottoms of the Hudson, Pidgeon, French-Broad, <sup>Chucky</sup> and Watauga Rivers.

It may be stated further that this same class of emigrants, had, at the close of the Revolutionary war, occupied stations as far West as Abingdon Va, and Ashville N.C. These were the hardy pioneers, who in buckskin breeches, and with flint lock rifles; with parched corn, and wild game for rations, marched one hundred miles, and fought the battle of King Mountain.

These first emigrants were Protestant Irishmen, and Scotchmen, and at every station after the fort and log houses had been built, they immediately built a school house, and church. These people were for the most part, educated Presbyterians. There were but few Episcopalians, and no Catholics among them. These latter lingered near the older settlements, in the East, where they could enjoy the ministrations of their Priests and clergy. There never was a finer Civilization on the Coast, than was built up by these Scotch Irish Presbyterians of East Tennessee, and Southern Virginia before the Civil war. - Just at this point can be explained, I think, the phenomena with regard to the position of East Tennessee during the Civil war.

After all the rich valleys and river bottoms had been entered and settled by the earlier Scotch and Irish Presbyterians, emigrants whose pulpits were filled by an educated ministry, then the smaller valleys, uplands and mountain coves were entered and settled by many of this same class of people. As their name on the old entry books will 4 show. - Moravia with his population were a few of the French Huguenots, and some Pennsylvanians, and Virginia German families, who made some of the very best ante-bellum citizens - but with these exceptions the whole population may be classified as Scotch Irish.

Now the question is asked.

"Why were these people so radically divided during our civil war?"

The answer is perfectly natural and logical.

The people who owned the valley and river bottoms became wealthy, cultivated immense farms and owned slaves.

Those who settled in the less fertile district, <sup>of course,</sup> were not so prosperous, neglected the education and accomplishments of their families; and soon there began to be formed social barriers, between the inhabitants of the rich lowland, and those of the thinner highland.
 But there was another cause that worked up this social separation. The older settlements of Presbyterians supported their schools, colleges and churches; but the younger and poorer settlements neglected these.
 The older ones had an education ministry, but the mountain districts were satisfied with illiterate preachers and incompetent teachers.

In the older settlements the pride and pedigree of family were never lost sight of, and these had much to do with the consent given by parents for the marriage of their children; but in the mountain and smaller valley settlement, these barriers were broken down, and the interchange of family ties were less scrupulous.

So at the opening of the war we had two classes of people from the same stock.

The one rich in lands stock and negroes. Their sons educated in good Academies or Colleges were our Lawyers, Doctors, Ministers, and Legislators, Teachers, and farmers.

 The other class with many ~~and~~ exceptions, did not own slaves, were not wealthy, about one half ~~of~~ of them very poor, and uneducated, and at heart most of them <sup>were or rather</sup> <sup>emancipationists</sup> Abolitionists.
 At the time of the John Brown raid I do not suppose that there could have been one hundred disunionists found in East Tennessee, or in South Western Virginia, but the conventions held in Philadelphia, and other Northern cities by "Squire" Mott, Wendell Phillips <sup>Susan B. Anthony</sup> and other prominent abolitionists, sympathizing with Brown, were commented upon by the Southern Press, began to form a disunion sentiment among the slaveholders, which culminated in the Secession of these States, after the Bombardment of Fort Sumpter, East Tennessee in the vote for Secession gave a large majority against it, chiefly through the votes of the illiterate mountain people, and then these men showed their faith by their work, for about 30,000 of them crossed

The mountaineers, went into Kentucky and other states, and joined the Federal Army. If any one thinks for a moment that this latter class of Scotch Irish descendants belonged to the "tribulous or hilarious" class of the Irish, they are very much mistaken. They had common sense, intelligence were were quiet, peaceful, law-abiding citizens;
and this is the character of these people today. Any body in the land can ride alone on horseback from one border of East Tennessee or South Western Virginia

To the other, explore every by-path of the mountains, traverse every county, trace every highway, and in 99 cases out of 100, merely neglect or insult!
But it must not be forgotten that the old Southern element still casts its refining influence over every county, and in every neighborhood, and now the two classes, brought closer together by common wants, common trials, and a common aim, feel that they need just such an institution in our midst, as Gen. W. H. H. H. and his indefatigable courtesies have established in Ponce de León near Cumberland Gap

The Lincoln Memorial

University! which is located in one of the most attractive and picturesque sites in Eastern North Carolina. Nothing can be more delightful than the home in "Grant and Lee Hall" provided for by Dr. Loary and his excellent and accomplished wife.

Every thing that money and the skill of the architect could do to make the building and grounds attractive and comfortable for all seasons has been done.

How is their work unappreciated by our Mountain boys and girls. They are seeking it much faster than accommodation can be provided, and already the cry is "Give us more room". Oh that this cry from the boys of both Union and Confederate soldiers, could be heard by those men who are willing to make such princely gifts in the cities where they really are not needed. This cry is from boys and girls, whose blood is thoroughly Americanized with but little contamination of the more recent but baser foreign element.

They know nothing about the discontent, and revolutionary tendencies of Anarchists, or Nihilists, and if educated and trained, will make our finest and best American citizens.

One more point I will notice in favor of the Situation of the Lincoln Memorial Unversity and then I will close.

Tennessee is practically a prohibition State, No whisky can be sold within four miles of any schoolhouse except in "incorporated towns" as cities of over 2000 inhabitants so that none can be legitimately said nearer the University in Tennessee than Knoxville a city 65 miles distant.

The adjoining county in Virginia is Lee County.
In January the people of that county held a popular election as to whether license should be granted to sell whisky. The temperance people carried the election by a decided and confirming majority, so that a distillery and saloon or "doggerij" which was run on the side of Cumberland where the sharp angle of Virginia soil separates the States of Kentucky and Tennessee are both closed, and the property now on the market for sale. There we may confidently assert, that, in point of central situation on the Mountain Districts, in the general christian sentiment which prevades the people, in their kindness of disposition, and law abiding character; in their thirsting for knowledge; in their patriotism and love of country, and in 18 the scarcity of endowment schools; the L. M. U. stands unique, and is the only institution in this country within a radius of one hundred miles where worthy students can pay tuition and board in labor. If an endowment can be secured and funds can be furnished to enable these students to build three new stone houses out of the immense mass of stone left in the foundation of the "Four Season Hotel" I truly believe that within one year after the accommodation can be furnished 500 student 14

1919 will be crowding into their Halls, eager, and anxious to study and to learn.

There is not a drone in the hive now, and we do not intend there shall be, I think it is a wrong to the parent, and a curse to the boy or girl - to cover up, or tolerate idleness or waste of their precious time.

Yours very truly,
R. F. Patterson

Dear General Howard:

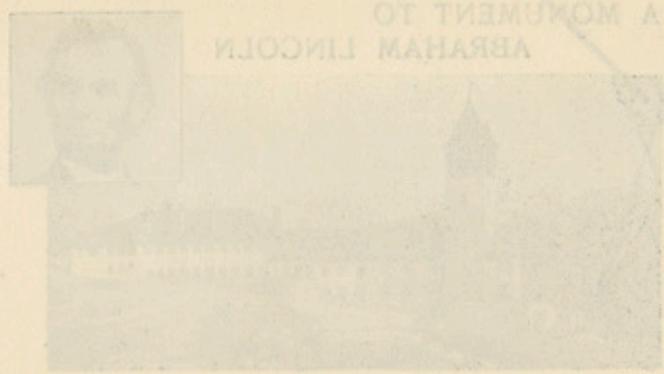

It is my design in this letter to give a plain truthful statement of the ancestry, characteristics and social conditions of the Mountain people of East Tennessee, South Western Virginia and South Eastern Kentucky. After the suppression of the "Tone rebellion" of 1798, and the "insurrection of Robert Emmet" in 1803, large number of leading Irishmen with their families both Catholic and Protestant left Ireland and came to America.

About this time the fertile vallies and rich river bottom of East Tennessee and South Western Virginia had become known to the "Irish Imigrant Aid Society of Philadelphia, and in less than a half century not less than a hundred stations or rendezvous were formed in Powel's Valley, which is bounded north by the Cumberland Mountains for over one hundred miles; in Bean Station Valley, which is bounded north by the Clinch Mountain for one hundred miles and then along the rich, alluvial bottom of the Holston, Fidgeon, French Broad Chucky and Watauga Rivers; It may be stated further that th this same class of the emigrants, had at the close of the Revolutionary War, occupied stations as far West as Abingdon, Va. and Ashville

Dear General Howard:

It is my design in this letter to give a plain truthful statement of the ancestry, characteristics and social conditions of the Mountain people of East Tennessee, South Western Virginia and South Eastern Kentucky. After the suppression of the "rebellion" of 1798, and the "insurrection of Robert Emmet" in 1803, large number of leading Irishmen with their families both Catholic and Protestant left Ireland and came to America. About this time the fertile valleys and river courses of East Tennessee and South Western Virginia had become known to the "Irish Loyalist Aid Society of Philadelphia", and in less than a half century not less than a hundred stations or rendezvous were formed in Fowle's Valley, which extended north by the Cumberland Mountains for over one hundred miles; in Bean Station Valley, which is bounded north by the Clinch Mountain for one hundred miles and then along the rich, alluvial bottom of the Holston, Clinch, French Broad, Duck and Watauga Rivers; it may be stated further that in this case east of the mountains, and at the close of the Revolution, they were occupied stations as far west as Lexington, Va. and Asheville, N. C. These were the hardy pioneers, who in buckskin breeches, and with flint-lock rifles; with parched corn and wild game for rations, marched one hundred miles and fought the battle of Rings Mountain. These first emigrants were Protestant Irishmen, and Scotchmen, and at every station after the fort and log homes had been built, they immediately built a school house, and church. These people were for the most part, educated Presbyterians. There were but few Episcopalians and no Catholics among them. These latter lingered near the older settlements in the East, where they could enjoy the ministrations of their Priests and clergy. There never was a finer civilization on the earth then was buolt up by these Scotch-Irish Presbyterians of East Tennessee, and Southern Virginia before the Civil War. Just at this point can be explained, I think, the phenomina with regard to the position of East Tennessee during the Civil War.

After all the rich vallies and river bottom had been entered and settled by the earlier Scotch and Irish Presbyterians, emigrants whose pulpits were filled by an educated minintry; then the smaller vallies, uplands and mountain coves were entered and settled by many of this same class of people as their name on the old entry books will show. Mixed with this population were a few of the French Guguenots, and some Presbyterians, and Virginia German families, who made some of the very best ante-billum citizens, but with these exceptions the whole population may be classed as Scotch Irish. Now the question is asked "Why were these people so radically divided during our civil war?" The answer is perfectly natural and logical.

The people who owned the valley and river bottom became wealthy, cultivated immense farms and owned slaves.

... these were the hardy pioneers, who in buckskin breeches, and with flint-lock rifles; with parched corn and wild game for rations, marched one hundred miles and fought the battle of Kings Mountain. These first emigrants were Protestant Irishmen, and put up, they immediately built a school house, and church. These

 Irish Presbyterians of East Tennessee, and Southern Virginia before the Civil War. Just at this point can be explained, I think, the phenomena with regard to the position of East Tennessee during the Civil War.

After all the rich valleys and river bottom had been entered and settled by the earlier Scotch and Irish Presbyterians, emigrants whose pulpits were filled by an educated ministry; then the earlier valleys, uplands and mountain coverts were entered and settled by many of this same class of people as their name on the old entry books will show. Mixed with this population were a few of the French German, and some Presbyterians, and Virginia German families, who made some of the very best anti-slavery citizens, but with these exceptions the whole population may be classed as Scotch Irish. Now the question is asked "Why were these people so radically divided during our civil war?" The answer is perfectly natural and logical.

The people who owned the valley and river bottom became wealthy, cultivated immense farms and owned slaves.

Those who settled in the lessfertile district of course were not so prosperous, neglected the education and accomplishment of their families, and soon there began to be formed social barriers between the inhabitants of the rich low lands and those of the thinner highlands. But there was another cause that worked up this social separation. The older settlements of Presbyterians supported their schools, colleges and church; but the younger and poorer settlements neglected these. The older ones had an educated minister, but the mountain districts were satisfied with illiterate preachers and incompetant teachers.

In the older settlements the pride and pedigree of family were never lost sight of, and these had much to do with the consent given by parents for the marriage of their children; but in the mountain and smaller valley settlements, these barriers were broken down, and the interchange of family ties were less scrupulous. So at the opening of the war we had two classes of people from the same stock. The one rich in lands, stock and negroes, their sons educated in good Academies or Colleges were our lawyers, doctor, minister, and legislators, teachers and farmers. The other class with many exceptions, did not own slaves, were not wealthy, about one-half of them very poor, and uneducated, and at heart most of them Abolitionests, were or rather emancipationest. At the time of the John Brown raid I do not suppose that there could have been one hundred disunionests found in East Tennessee or in South Western Virginia but the convention held in Philadelphia, and when Northern cities by "Luoretia Mott " Wendell Phillips, Susan B. Antony and other prominent abolitionests, sympathising with Brown were commented upon by the Southern Press, began to form a disunion sentiment among the slave holders, which culminated in the Secession of these states.

Those who settled in the localities district of course were not so prosperous, neglected the education and accomplishment of their families, and soon there began to be formed social barriers between the immigrants of the rich low lands and those of the thinner highlands. But there was another cause that worked up this social separation. The older settlements of Presbyterians supported their schools, colleges and churches; but the younger and poorer settlements neglected these. The older ones had an educated educated in good Academies or Colleges were our lawyers, doctors, ministers, and planters, teachers and farmers. The other class with many exceptions, did not own slaves, were not wealthy, about one-half of them very poor, and uneducated, and at heart most of them abolitionists, were or rather emancipationists. At the time of the war I do not suppose that there could have been one hundred abolitionists found in East Tennessee or in the Western Virginia but the convention held in Elizabethton, and when known called by "Protestant Mass" & Wendell Phillips, James E. Anthony and other prominent abolitionists, sympathizing with Brown were convened near by the Southern Cross, began to form a distinct sentiment among the slave holders, which culminated in the secession of those states after the Bombardment of Fort Sumptor, East Tennessee in the vote for secession gave a large majority against it, chiefly through the votes of the illiterate mountain people, and then these men showed their faith by their works; for about 30,000 of them crossed the mountains went into Kentucky and other states, and joined the Federal Army. If any one thinks for a moment that this latter class of Scotch Irish descendants belonged to the "bibulous or hilarious" class of the Irish, they are very much mistaken. They had common sense, intelligent, were quiet, peaceful, law-abiding citizens; and this is the character of these people to-day. Any lady in the land can ride alone on horseback from one border of East Ten n. or South Western Virginia to the other; explore every by path of the mountains, traverse every county, travel every highway, and in ninety nine cases out of a hundred never be molested or insulted!!

But it must not be forgotten that the old Southern element still casts its refining influence over every county, and in every neighborhood, and now the two classes, brought closer together by common wants, common trials, and a common aim feel that they need just such an institution in our midst as Gen. O. O. Howard and his indifatigable co-workers have established in Powels Vlley near Cumberland Gap, - The Lincoln Memorial University - which is located in one of the most attractive and picturesque sites in E. Tenn. Nothing can be more delightful than the home in "Grant and Lee hall" presided over by Dr. Larry and his excellent and accomplished wife.

Everything that money and the skill of the architect could do to make the building and ground attractive and comfortable for seasons has been done.

 If any one thinks for a moment that this latter class of Scotch common wants, common trials, and a common aim feel that they need each other as never before. In our opinion Mr. D. G. Howard and his Antislavery co-workers have established in Powell's Valley near Cumberland Gap, - The Lincoln Memorial University - which is located at one of the most attractive and picturesque sites in E. Tenn.

 Nothing can be more delightful than the home in "Stanton and Lee Hall" presided over by Mr. Jarvis and his excellent and accomplished wife.
 Every dollar that money and the skill of the stonemason could be to make the building and ground attractive and comfortable for seasons has been done.

Nor is the work unappreciated by our Mountain boys and girls. They are seeking its walls faster than accommodations can be provided, and already the cry is "give us more rooms!" Oh, that this cry from the boys of both Union and Confederate soldiers could be heard by those men who are willing to make such princely gifts in the cities where they really aren't needed. This cry is from boys, and girls, whose blood is thoroughly Americanized with but little contamination of the more recent but baser foreign element. They know nothing about the discontent, and revolutionary tendencies of anarchists, or nihilists, and if educated and trained will make our finest and best American citizens.

One more point I will notice in favor of the situation of the Lincoln Memorial University and then I will close.

Tennessee is practically a prohibition State; No whisky can be sold within four miles of any schoolhouse except in "incorporated towns" or cities of over 2000 inhabitants so that none can be legitimately sold nearer than Knoxville, a city 65 miles distant. The adjoining county in Virginia is Lee County. In January the people of that county held a popular election as to whether license should be granted to sell whisky. The temperance people carried the election by a decided and convincing majority, so that a distillery and saloon or "doggery" which was run on the side of Cumberland Gap where the sharp angle of Virginia soil separates the states of Kentucky and Tennessee are both closed and the property now on the market for sale. Then we may confidently assert, that, in point of central situation in the Mountain districts; in the general Christian sentiment which pervades the people, in their kindness of disposition and law abiding character; in their hungering for knowledge; in the patriotism and love of country, and in the scarcity

Dear Gen. Howard:- Dr. Larry informs me that Prof. Lawrence has written to you in regard to $220<sup>00</sup> that is due him,

I regret very much that Prof. Lawrence has done so, as it was not necessary, and the members of the executive committee here are anxious that you should not be troubled with the details of the business here.

You will remember that at the meeting of directors in July 1898, when we assumed the management of the school here, known as Harrow School, we voted to assume all contracts made by Mr. Myers, for teachers for the ensuing year.

When he handed me the list, it included Prof. G. W. Lawrence, to receive $400<sup>00</sup> and his board for nine months services; but before Prof. Lawrence had been teaching a month and prior to first pay-day he sent another list showing that Mr. Lawrence was to receive only $20<sup>00</sup> per month and his board, which was the amount that I paid him each month for nine months; he receiving it although he once or twice claimed that he was to receive $400<sup>00</sup> for 9 months. (Quite a difference)

I called the attention of Mr. Myers to the matter once or twice, and he insisted that $20<sup>00</sup> month was correct; and so the matter remained until last summer during vacation, when we were arranging with him to stay this year, when he again pressed his claim that there was $220<sup>00</sup> balance due him on the preceding year's work, and to secure harmony all round, the executive committee voted to pay him the amount, and I credited his account by $220<sup>00</sup>. But this was done with the understanding that it would be paid when we had plenty of funds; at least not before we had paid the entire debt against the farm; and as that has not been fully paid, we do not consider the amount due him now, and not until <sup>the debt</sup> ~~it~~ has been paid in full.

If however you think it is best to pay it now, please add this much to the estimate for next month, which I will send you in a few days, and we will pay him,

School in all departments is progressing finely, . New students coming every week. The only trouble we have is to take care of them. Please send me your report for January.

My dear General:-

I have your esteemed favor of the 10th, and note your desire that I should help contribute towards the running expenses of the Lincoln Memorial University, and in reply would say that, if I could see you, personally, I could easily explain to you how it is not possible for me, at the present time, to do anything further in this direction.

I think Mr. Blanchard appreciates the fact that I am raising a large sum of money for Hospital purposes, and have a great deal of work yet to do, in order to secure it. Later on, I hope to be able to do something.

I appreciate thoroughly your kind sentiments, and remain,

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir,

Your favor of latter part of Janry. came duly to hand and I am now in receipt of circular note of 10th inst. Thank you for them for I like to keep in touch with with yourself and others who are interested in the good work, although my part must necessarily be small. I shall send cheque to Col. Adams for my subscription for coming expenses, probably early in March, after I get a few other things out of the way. The Colonel showed me a letter which he was proposing to issue which he was asking the Advisory Board to endorse or amend. It seemed to be in good form. He had it in mind to make an effort to secure contributions. Wonder what finally became of those eye glasses which I so carefully carried to your office, thinking they were yours, & which he never wanted? He came later. You do not mention them in your letter probably they strayed. With much respect - Darius V. James

Dear Father:-

I have learned that your name is still on the door of the Presbyterian Building, 156 Fifth Ave., New York. The impression goes abroad, and business men call upon me regarding you as financially responsible in some way because your name is on a door in the Building. I cannot be annoyed by these questions. Your name must be removed from that door. The people have no right to put it on nor use your name any more than any other public man, whose name they use.

I advise you not to write to Mr. Miller, have no correspondence with him; simply authorize me to call and politely request your name to be removed.

Affectionately yours,

J. W. Howard

P.S. Mr. Miller went to the proprietors or agents of the Presbyterian Bldg., stating that he took the room as Secretary of Gen. O. O. Howard and the lease is probably signed in this way. I have not seen it, but write on verbal information from one of the gentlemen, who has kindly told me, that is connected with the Building in and a man whom I have perfect confidence.

Dear Sir:-

Your favor of the 8th inst. at hand. We did have an offer of $80.00 rent for the 40 acres tract, but as you had agreed to let Simpson have it, and as the other party required an immediate answer, we were obliged to let him go. It may be possible to find some one now, who would pay $75.00, but if we cannot do this before March 1st, our opinion is that the $60.00 should be accepted, if the offer is still open at that time. Farm leases here run from March to March, and consequently farmers are anxious to get arrangements made early in February.

Regarding the taxes on the town of Howard, we find that there was a mistake made in the report from the County Treasurer's office, and that "the reserve", does not belong to that 40 at all, and you have nothing to do with the taxes on it. This will reduce the delinquent taxes to a very small amount.

taining the promise of a visit to me, let me assure you that few things would give me greater pride & happiness than receiving you under my roof, & taking by the hands this last remnant of Gettysburg. It will be a precious privilege to talk with you about the Great War, & the mighty events filled with the sacred memories of my noble husband. So far remain who realize that mighty conflict by which our Government was sustained. To the present generation it seems as far off as the American Revolution

So little do they realize the blessings that angelic conflicts secured to them.

I deeply sympathize with you in your efforts to secure the Memorial

College at Cumberland Gap, & wish

I had a thousand dollars towards its completion. I cannot promise it now; but later I may be able to do something.

Let your ~~dear~~ gaze be turned to Berea,

It will be good to talk with you about these things, & when you come to Boston if you will let me know you at the Congress, I shall be ready to give

Thanking you again for

Mr. Eager informed me yesterday that you contemplated visiting here in April. I sincerely hope you will do so and if you come I shall expect you to make your home with us, ie, with my family. I have reserved a room for you where you will have all conveniences and yet be out of the unavoidable noise of a school. I am sorry that you will not see Rev. Myers here. You may see him in the north before coming. I do not care to write much about his plans etc. I should like to have you here that you might make a thorough study of his methods.

This work is now rooting itself firmly in this soil and getting the respect of the best class of Southern people. The sanitary condition at the Gap and the whole discipline of the school is constantly improving. There is harmony all along the line. That matter of Prof. Lawrence's salary is something of the past, the relic of another administration, and can be easily cared for. Now that our business is done on business principles such things will not be likely to occur.

You know Mr. Lawrence was kept here as a compromise, as I understand it. Compromises are always leading to unceasing difficulties.

The more I see of Mr. Eager, the more I am satisfied that he is just the man we need in that place for the present if we can afford to pay him. He earns every dollar of his salary. I feel sure that he loses more than he gains in doing this exacting work. I could do it if it must be done inside, but it would take me away just so much from the work that must be carefully done. The general planning and organizing and keeping all forces working together. I presume I have often said this before but it must be kept in mind.

No greater mistake could be made than to get our books tangled up. Business men would soon lose confidence.

Do not think that people here do not pray enough. I was struck when I landed with the fact that all seemed to pray a great deal and very earnestly. The spirit of prayer was lacking sweetness, I admit, especially when persons very evidently prayed at each other. The need was organization and well defined authority. We have that now, especially at "Grant-Lee", and life is like a sweet song.

I enclose a little diagram of the "HOWARD" room and its connections.

Hoping to hear from you I am,
