My dear Sir:-
We send you herewith a copy of our Appeal with the complete list of signers, and the typewritten letter which we send to prospective donors.

You will be interested to see the autographs of the distinguished men who have given their assent to the Appeal which you kindIn strengthened by your signature. It was your influence we sought, with no thought of any donation on your part, much as that would add to the weight of your signature. But we shall highly appreciate the favor if you will kindly give us the names of some Christian men and women of means, to whom we can send the Appeal, with the accompanything type-written letter and blank form for donation.

Yours respectfully,

Dear General and Comrade:-
The Secretary of the Y, M. C. A. of this city has asked me to write to you, and tell you that it is proposed to have a patriotic service here in the near future, at which the G. A. R. Post will be invited to attend in a body.

As I am one of the officers of the Association and also Commander of the Post, it was thought best to consult me in the matter, and we have decided to invite you to speak to us on that occasion.

Are your engagements such that you could come here some Sunday in the near future, and what will be the expense to us, if we will furnigh first class entertainment for you while you are in the city?

If you can come, will you please tell us the nearest date that you have open.

An early reply will greatly oblige,

My dear General:-

Yesterday Miller and Danforth, if that is the name of (han ( 1 4an 8) the other man, came in to see me, and said they had received a lefter requesting them to call and see mex in regard to the Lincoin Kemorial University matter. kr . Danforth said that the delay in coming was due to the fact that this was the first appearance of $k$. Milier in Boston, and that they had been waiting until he came here before they called; that had the matter been left to me as an attorney they should have sent their lawyer up, but that Mr. Blanchard had begged them not to take any such course until they had seen me first. I told them that I wrote the letter because at that time I wanted to talk with them about what they might be able to do between the date of min letter, say january 8 th, and the end of the month, within which time you had given them leave to operate, and that inasmuch as that limit had expired there was nothing now left for me to discuss with them, as the reletions between themselves and the University, or you, growing out of that authority had ceased absolutely. I asked them what they expected and they seemed rather guarded about expressing what they expected, only so far as to go into at considerable length the original agreement entered into between them and yourself, by which they claimed that they were to raise a. miliion. dollars even, if they were able to do it, and thet you said you would be glad to pay one-third as commission, and that the mortgage on the property of $83pof(., or whatever it was, was weighing upon you so that you were not able to sleep nights. They also expatiated on Mr. Blanchard's "oily" way of presenting things.

When I expressed surprise that they should address you a letter couched in such discourteous terms as some of the letters they had sent in November or December, they said they were justified in doing so because of the way in which they had been harrassed.

They said they supposed they had no remedy on the contract, excent to ciain their commissions on any sums which might be pald hereafter by people whom they had approached. of told them that. of course, they could go anead and try that on if they thought it would avail them anything.

I thought it was better at this stage not to open any negotiations with them, or show any disposition to treat the whole affair as other than closed and out of the ray, and that would be my attitude always. I think any mooth words with them will only serve to impress them with the idea that we are afraid of them, and breed trouble for us.
