The Progress,
Atlantic City, N.J.

Dear General Howard,

I fear that I failed to impress on you that I am really a sick man. But I wish so much to make the trip to Atlantic in warm weather. I have swelling of the ankle which interferes with my walking. As to Forest, I have read carefully the charges against him. And the theater and I am satisfied he did not violate the line of war in that assault. And personally hastened to report his men who saw...
Desirous to massacre the defenders. He was rough and untutored. But I have always admired the manly way in which he accepted defeat and came out for an outspoken advocate of the Republican party. I wish I could suggest some idea to help you out, but a brief sketch of the principal events before Atlanta from the Federal side would not fail to interest such a meeting. I am sorry that I cannot play my part but my doctor forbids it.

With much affectionate regard,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Mr. Wm. W. H. Moore has referred to me your letter wherein you spoke of having received a typewritten sketch of Dr. Howard's life which he had prepared and gave to me. I will now readily return it to you after having had it.

My dear Mr. Howard:

As Bishop of Cent. Pa. I am trying to complete the beautiful Memorial Church of the "Prince of Peace" at Gettysburg. Of the total cost of $20,000 we now require only $2,000 more, to enable us to concentrate it in July. The little flock at Gettysburg venture at their own risk that there are enough of the soldiers and friends of the soldiers who would like to have a share in this Church commemorating our hero, who fell in the defense of the flag. In the large square tower many stones without inscription may be taken for the liberty that I take. You will send me your check for $10 or more with name or some one whom you would like to remember. My dear Sir:—

We are to-day mailing the formal invitations. They have been sent to all veterans of the battles around Atlanta whose addresses we could obtain.

The movement is progressing satisfactorily in every way, and everything points to a tremendous gathering of veterans, and a most interesting occasion.

You understand, of course, that you are to be the guest of the Reunion Committee while in Atlanta. Rooms have been engaged for you at the Hotel Aragon.

We are to have an informal "hamper lunch" at the McPherson Monument about midday on the 19th. The day of the 19th and the morning of the 20th will be pretty well taken up in looking over the battlefields, and we will arrange for some of our guests to meet at the McPherson Monument for the informal lunch, as stated above.

Hope you can reach Atlanta on the 18th, but please be sure and be with us in time for the informal lunch on the 19th.

Hope you can render us some of our reunion to meet the occasion.

Truly may I trust His face kindly on me, and find the unfruitful part of my life depart from me.

May the sheep and my Self after hold converse together regarding your kindness and love towards us all about that, of your Self and your influence on my life for clear purposes. Having you seen, you have been last little of me for a long time our friendship knows nothing.

My dear General,

I enclose a notice which came to me today from the Home Insurance Co. of New York. The total premium was $300, and I think the balance due is $250. What shall be done with this, or do you care to let the policy lapse?

Have you had any new contributions to the expense fund of late? I hope you and your family are well this hot weather.

Please take such action in the matter of this insurance as in your judgment you deem advisable. I think you should have some action of the board in case it is thought best not to continue this policy.

I enclose a notice which came to me to-day from the Home Insurance Co. of New York. The total premium was $2000, and the face insurance was $12,000. I think the deduction gave it $1800.

I understand the balance goes to the Company. Have you had any experience or difficulty with this?

I hope you will get a good return from the policy.

We are today en route to Montreal, from when we will sail tomorrow (Saturday) A.M.
We were booked for the "Main" one of the ill-fated ships at New York last Saturday.
Hence the change to Montreal.
We enjoyed a few hours very pleasantly with Mr. Lang's family yesterday morning as we came through Providence.
He is planning to go into the field and Sears... quite encouraged. I hope he will be successful. He spent July 4th at N.Y. City but all places of business were closed, so did not see old Adams.

Since I left home, have learned that there is a bill of $300 due for insurance. I hope that the payment of this amount can be arranged soon so that the insurance will not be effected nor canceled.

As we pass Burlington today will look for your wish I had time to stop over a few hours.

My Dear General:—

Your letter from Chicago at hand. You will have learned why we did not connect at Boston. I am sure sowing as you so often say, but I fail to draw in many shekels so far, and yet I have full faith that if we go on straight about our duty, we shall not lack for means, at least to do a modest work. I find plenty to do to counteract confusion made by Pres. Frost and Mr. W. Myers. I trust that by this time you see that I have no personal animosities toward this man. Whatever you may think, it always my duty to lay out the conditions of the work in a plain, unprejudiced manner....

I have three invitations to speak on our work in Providence Churches but they are not the wealthy ones, they have all their arrangements made for the summer. I shall accept two of these, hoping that we may get support in the press and thus educate people. I have also an invitation to present the work in the wide-awake city of New Glasgow, N.S. This is a new field and well worth cultivating. I also look forward to getting the case before the real Scotch some day. But the present dollar, that is the $.

I hate to trouble you with this for it seems wicked to think that you should bear any burden of this kind. How often I think of your heroic effort for this institution. Those who thy...

their best cannot fully appreciate it, and in this bustling world few have the time to try to. I fully realize that but for you there would now be no H.M.I. There are many things I feel like referring to you but I do not for I do not want to be burdened. My salary was made the subject of much unpleasant talk because of the ever irritating criticism of Mr. Myers. I yielded that as I did the presidency matter for the sake if peace. You remember that a compromise of $2,000 per year, payable in cash monthly beginning the first of June 5th 1910 was satisfactory to every member of the board, even Mr. Myers. Mr. Eager called here yesterday on his way to take the steamer for London. I expected he would settle with me for June. He could not and so I am placed in a very peculiar condition. One could easily say "go out and beg the money". I am laying my plans for just that kind of work but I must exist in the meantime time and meet a few obligations that I have, not enough to worry about if the obligations men have made are reasonably kept. I feel that it was Mr. Eager's duty to have attended to this in some way. He settled with me to June 1 with no notes which the C. Gap bank promised to discount and send check through Mr. Eager to N.Y. and for which I waited. The bank lacked the funds and after waiting a week or more I ordered the notes sent to N.Y. & Col. Adams who was to cash the check or discount the smaller note and taking out a loan advanced me forward the balance. The notes are now in his safe "Awaiting further developments." To fight well one must look out for his base of supplies. I see success in the future if only my hands are held up and my proper authority sustained. I shall expect this and go trustingly forward as I have agreed to do. I shall write you again in a few hours if matters relating to Harrogate Inn and the work there.

Yours fraternally,

John Hale Lamy.
