Dear Sir:-

A copy of the letter has come to our notice in which you give your opinion of the late paper printing, and which interest has been aroused by
it. We appreciate your interest, and the view of promoting a signed article of about 1500 words on the subject, together with your interest photographs which will be published in various newspapers throughout the country in conjunction with the editorial.
The kind of in advance for the courtesy, and notice that you will permit this our request, we are to remain

Beverly, July 20th 1900

Dear Gen. Howard.

It seems a long time since I have seen you or even heard from you directly. I have heard from Dr Lang several times, and Mr Eigen and wife stopped here on their way to Europe. The summer will soon be gone and I am not quite settled yet as to my plans for field work for the S.M.U. I have had an indefinite plan, to spend, say, six months of continuous work beginning about the first of Oct. I think I made mention of this at trustee meeting. Does this seem wise to you? Dr Lang writes that he wishes I was in the field now, but if I can do anything, I believe I can do more if I wait until Oct and then keep right at it for six months. Am I right?

I do not wish to worry you but it would relieve me if you could agree to this.

I believe sentiment is going to grow in favor of the Gap. The communication to the Beech trustees was well received. Most sincerely yours
E. Fairchild

My Dear General Howard :-

Of course we expect you on the afternoon of the second of August. The Title you gave me would be very appropriate indeed. The Sons of Veterans will give you a hearty welcome. The compensation is to be fifty dollars and your expenses. I am now endeavoring to secure passage over the Erie to Silver Springs where you can change for the Silver Lake R.R.

I sincerely hope that nothing may prevent your being with us. Commander Dr. Sheldon is very anxious about it. He is the one who wrote to you from Albany.

Sincerely yours,

My dear General Howard:

In connection with your retirement from active service, I believe that you continue to take an interest in matters of national importance, and for this reason I have recommended you to the Board of Managers as a corresponding member of the National Geographic Society. The magazine published by the Society keeps you in touch with the geographical progress of the world, and I think you will find it worth more than the very small sum asked in the shape of dues, viz. $2.00 a year. Of course the magazine could not be printed for so small a sum with its present limited circulation.

From time to time we should be glad to be favored with brief and timely geographic articles that may be suitable for the magazine.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:-

Replying to yours of the 19th would say that Mr. Meyers, wrote to O. O. Howard, Burlington, Vt., some sixty days ago, about the Flannigan suit, and on his telling us that he had received no reply, we rather took it for granted that ^{you} he had employed other attorneys. However, we can still get leave to answer and set up a denial. Mr. Meyers terms are quite reasonable. He will write you just what they are.

Am inclined to think that your title to the town of Howard is perfectly good, as to all of the lots if you have had adverse possession for ten years.

My dear Sir:

I beg your indulgence & pardon for an inquiry also: Owing to some special attention to the interesting & inspiring subject of prayer which I have been considering, the impression was sometime given me that you related the circumstance of your praying as also did your opponent Stonewall Jackson, for victory on the approaching ^{of a certain engagement} morning, but that yours was not answered while the Virginians was, though in the end yours was.

Would you give me a correct version of the circumstance, which battle etc.

I am in Col. Henderson's admirable book on the gallant Infantry leader.

How do you regard the merits of this English authority so ample & graphic in detail?

Have you ever put in print your estimate of the Christian, soldierly & personal character of Jackson?

Did you have acquaintance during the Freedmen's Bureau activities with Gov. Francis Pickens?

Pierpont, of Fairmont, West Virginia, and what was your impression of this stalwart friend of Union and of Lincoln?

I should indeed and double deed appreciate your courteous and gracious offices in the above queries, while gratefully and obliged

Very truly yours,

Ginn & Co. of Boston, have two very fair histories, they think. One written for circulation in the south, and one in the north. I think this highly improper. I do not mean to wish to say, General, but that it is perfectly proper to do just as they have done, but I mean improper in the sense of teaching our children that there are such things as two histories of the civil war conflicting with each other, and would undertake this new one.

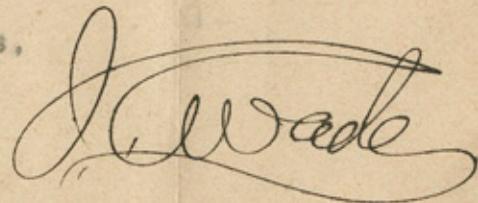

I was very thankful that the matter was brought to a head so apropos at our reunion on Friday evening. And now I believe is the time when this matter, as suggested, could be put in proper shape, and while the followers of you and General Howard are living to support you in such an endeavor, and while you are living, to indicate the facts of the matter; and while we may be able, before we have passed over the border lines, to do our country another benefit by placing on record an unprejudiced history containing nothing but the facts in the matter, which may be placed, with equal respect, in every library and in every public school in our broad land, with detriment to no one, but with best wishes to everyone concerned therein.

Now, my dear General, I know too well how very busy you and General Howard both are, and possibly I may be taking altogether too much of your time now, but I could not forbear to make these suggestions. If you can enter into them with the spirit that we all feel at this time, would you kindly indicate any form that you would wish them to take, or how much time you could give to the matter? Of course, all of this is preliminary. The idea being that any profit that should come out of it should go to you two Generals who got it up. I wish this thoroughly understood, so as to place no one in a wrong position. While I know you would be perfectly willing to do what you could without profit, at the same time, I know thoroughly well that the people have no right to ask you to take up your valuable time for nothing.

I think General Howard will wait to hear from me and learn your wishes in the matter before any further conclusion is reached.

Trusting that I may hear from you soon, or if were possible, I shall be in my office to-morrow morning, the 24th, from eight until half past eleven o'clock, or by letter, if not convenient for you to call.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir,-

I am in receipt of a letter from the Bryon Reed Co., of this city informing me that they have written you relative to the case of Flanagan vs. Mathisen, et al. in which your father Gen. O. Howard was made one of the defendants.

This action was originally brought against Mathisen, Nelson and others with injunction proceedings against these parties. The injunction case was tried in the month of October last, resulting in a decision in favor of the defendants. Sometime after the trial on the petition for an injunction an amended petition was filed by the plaintiff, bringing in the defendants whose names are contained with the enclosed notice of publication. Flanagan claims that about thirty years ago he purchased all of the property contained within Boyd's Addition to the city of Omaha from one Edward Taylor; that being unable to read or write and knowing nothing about deeds he did not ask for any deed of conveyance but settled upon said property, and alleges that he has continued to occupy the same ever since. He has no title of record, for the property was purchased by James E. Boyd from Edward Taylor, who received a deed of conveyance and platted the same.

I have carefully looked up all the evidence, secured all the witnesses that were in reach and am looking after the interest of

The injunction case was tried in the month of October last, resulting in a decision in favor of the defendants. nearly all the defendants. I am prepared to look after your interest in this case I think for a more reasonable fee than that for which any other attorney could be secured, for the reason that I have already made careful preparation for the trial of the case and that the interests of the majority of the defendants are in my hands.

You will note that the answer day was July 2nd, 1900. It will be necessary to make a request to the court for permission to file answer, which can easily be done. The terms I have made to the defendants in this case are $25.00 each for taking care of each of their interests in the district court. Of this amount $15.00 is a retainer to be paid when the case is placed in my hands, and the balance, $10.00, contingent upon our success in the trial of the case in the district court. In the event of failure to secure a decision in our favor no charges other than the $15.00 will be asked.

Providing you place your interest in this matter in my hands, I assure you that every effort will be made to secure a decision in your behalf. Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Respectfully yours,

Hugh A. Myers.

ants in this case are $25.00 each for taking care of each of their interests in the district court. Of this amount $10.00 is a retainer to be paid when the case is placed in my hands, and the balance, $15.00, contingent upon our success in the trial of the case in the district court. In the event of failure to secure a decision in our favor no charges other than the $15.00 will be asked.

Providing you place your interest in this matter in my hands,
I assure you that every effort will be made to secure a decision in your behalf. Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Respectfully yours,

Hugh A. Higgins

mary of the great Protector's qualities as a personal ruler.

Barrie's great serial, "Tommy and Grizel," is continued with intense interest.

Charles Major, the author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," one of the most popular historical novels, writes an essay entitled "What Is Historic Atmosphere?" in which he describes those elements of language and character which are important in creating the illusion which is necessary in good historical fiction. Mr. Major's views are vigorously expressed, and are made from a new point of view.

John Fox, Jr., author of "Hell-fer-Sartain," writes an outdoor sketch, entitled "Down the Kentucky on a Raft," which is full of the amusing mountain characters which he knows so well. Mr. Fox will contribute other outdoor articles of adventure to early numbers of the magazine.

Edith Wharton, author of "The Touchstone," has a story in dialogue entitled "Copy," which is a reminiscence of the love affairs of a great novelist and a great poet. It is a most amusing comedy.

The first of several railroad stories by a new writer, Louis C. Senger, is published under the title of "Train 14," with illustrations by Cline dinst.

Another brief sketch is "The Story of a Tin Soldier," by Roy Rolfe Gilson.

Mr. Harry S. Howard,
Burlington,
Vermont,

Dear Howard:

I could not last year accept the invitation you gave me to visit you at Burlington because I did not come to Vermont at all, nor can I now ^{accept} in the sense intended. There has however come to my attention an excursion from stations in this neighborhood which makes Ticonderoga and Burlington its objective points and affords a ride upon Lake Champlain ~~between~~ ^{between} them. This would all be new, and I am sure enjoyable, to me.

Now, if you can let me know ^{within} a week whether you are at home and what your address is, I may be able, and certainly should be glad, to call.

I was admitted to the New Jersey bar last November and have been practicing independently since the first of last May. Further particulars I can give if I see you, when too I shall want to know about your progress.

Yours very sincerely,

Samuel W. Boardman Jr.
