My Dear Sir:

Enclosed is $5.00 for ten dollars in answer to your appeal of Feb. 10, 1900, for Lincoln Memorial University. I had the appeal before the law three times before deciding, in the mean time I spent 6 days with our lawyers at the bar.

Can you tell me where I can get a good account of the military operations that occurred at the battle? Also extensive views of the battle, 4 scenes, or surrounding country? I would like to give an illustrated talk on that region, people & work.

Please send receipt to Andrew Buchanan for above, Baptist Home Sunday School.

Sincerely yours,

Elmer M. Marsh.
DEAR General Howard,

What I said to you the other day in all the important matters of your expressed preference to be believed in my statement at the banquet was mentioned at the time not merely my own view but also that of others. Yet I hope to be able to be satisfied with it since hearing of it not altogether satisfactory to you. So I am not sorry to learn that all the programme for a little presentation of the Memorial Album which I am to make. I am as hopeful as I am, and the presentation will be made in any case.

I trust you know already that you are to speak, but I shall personally anticipate to make sure of it as early as I can. Although what I said to you was my own affectionate conclusion, I am sure now that it is better as it is, and am sincerely glad that it has turned out so.

Everything points to a successful meeting and to a testimonial such as this is not often given, nor can be in this country.

With kindest regards to Mrs. Howard and your children.

By helping one armed General Howard on his horse, I probably saved his life, as I rode at once to the rear. Take that horse to the rear!

I replied: Oh no, General, it is getting very hot around here, you better mount.

Saying this, I dismounted and helped the General into his saddle while bullets were flying all around us and one had struck me already in the belt.

By to-day's mail, I send you to-day's "Oregonian," having a brief mention of your seventieth anniversary. I have noticed this proposed banquet to you with great pleasure. Though it may seem a little late in the day to do so, I beg to add my hearty congratulations upon that your seventieth birthday, and trust it may be God's will that you may still live many years to go in and out as a worker in the Master's cause.

You will be glad to know that my general health is very good. I have recently passed my sixty-ninth birthday and am still singing the Gospel as of old. The more I sing it, the more I love it. My voice appears to be good and acceptable to those who hear me sing.

I hope it will be your lot and pleasure some day to visit Oregon. You have a host of friends in Oregon, very many of whom love you very dearly and wish you all possible good success, health, happiness and prosperity.

Dear Mrs. Hopkins,

I am writing to request your assistance in organizing a speaking engagement for the Speakers Bureau of the Republican State Committee. Our goal is to increase awareness and support for our party's candidates in the upcoming election.

We are in need of a speaker who can effectively communicate our message to the electorate. Ideally, the speaker should have experience in public speaking and a background in local politics. Additionally, they should be able to deliver a compelling speech that resonates with our target audience.

If you or anyone within your network fits this profile, please let me know as soon as possible. We are flexible regarding the date and time of the event, and we are willing to reimburse all expenses incurred.

Thank you for considering this request. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Dear Sir:

You have been so busy with the election that I have got, with the election that I have put in much hard work, judging from your result. I should like to have the dinner in your honor today, but I am not quite ready to get off. I am not sure of the result of the election. If I write a poem for you I will try to write a poem for you. If you do not hear it, let me know as I think I keep a copy of you. There is much about the school you should know now and I am not coming here soon, and so I will telegraph you and I will meet you at New York.

I expect through the papers you have been in good shape and things are fine. I have not come, we are in a very good shape now. I presume you have seen the 'Nursery' which has been gotten out and as a money getter. I have just a number by me at Burlington, also some to Mrs. Fairchild in N.Y. as well as other literature.
I have kept the school open at Grand Lake and a finer lot of youth you never saw. Teachers and scholars all join in helping work out our hard financial problems. A sweet Christian spirit prevails here and there have been several conversions and re-appearances. This aids wonderfully in the discipline which is superior even to last year.

On account of the lack of funds I have had to refuse many, but our rooms are filled and when January comes and the free schools close I don't know what we shall do. Perhaps before that time a way will open.

It has been at considerable sacrifice that I have kept this department above-board. I have had to draw upon limited resources of my own, as Mr. Eager, the local treasurer has not been able to advance me a dollar in cash of salary. I need money very much. Whenever it is possible I hope the fact will be remembered.

The fact that I have the tons
The leading merchants in Chicago say that the mayor of Chicago said they have a good college there. We have the man who has been there to see what kind of success we have had. I was so satisfied with the results and I have been for some time now to get a better farmer and push as well as in the field of management.

In addition to our regular teachers, we have some very good men from Providence, R.I., Prof. and wife. They have been great help. The music and shorthand are good. The farm pays the cost of those departments.

The farm will pay the managers' salary. Those in the printing and woodworking dept., and we have their salaries out of the profits of their depts. Otherwise we are paying but $50.00.

Cash for 1st month, 1st of each month. Cash at Hamburg for teaching, not including board. There are 16 students boarding at Harrow and 50 at Bannfield. The parents of most of the latter wish to send their children to the Gap in account of the conditions there. Thus you will see why I could not coincide with the local board in closing.
the Grand-See Hall.

Everything seems to move in harmony now, but of course we lack money, still this school can be run money or no money, rather than give up.

Mr. Summer is leaving the Gap. If you see the Adams, let them know that we have the man ready. If the church and they will give forces, I will write Dr. Woodbury in the morning.

One of your teachers, Mrs. E. G. Sackett, who spoke to you at Chalanquara, has gone into the oil regions of Pa. to see what she can do to raise money. She was valuable here but I hope she can do well in the field. I must close. All

FROM THE CONGREGATIONAL CLUB OF BROOKLYN.

The Congregational Club of Brooklyn, N.Y., through its Committee extends its cordial congratulations to General Oliver Otis Howard on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. Such a record of devotion to the cause of Christianity, of fidelity and loyalty to country as a soldier and Commanding officer, is an inspiration to the young men of this land and the admiration of all who love its institutions. So long as we have men of this character to occupy leading positions, whether in the army or in civil life, the principles for which this great Republic stands are secure from the assaults of its enemies. We hope that his life may be spared to many more years of happiness and usefulness.

We beg to inform you that Messrs. R. F. Outcault of "Judge" and E. Z. Parker, of the Associated Newspaper Bureau, have been appointed by the Press Artists' League to request you to act as a patron of the League's forthcoming exhibit, which will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria during the Holidays, and will consist of the larger originals of the cartoons, portraits, comics and news pictures as reproduced in all the New York newspapers and divers periodicals, besides the original illustrations of recent novels. There will be also a limited number of colored drawings and water colors and oils, contributed by the artists of the press, who have entire control of this exhibit and whose work only will be shown.

Many prominent gentlemen have promised to lend their aid as patrons and purchasers in order to aid us in establishing free annual art scholarships for poor students, and in improving American illustrative art.
