Dear Senator Crane:-

I want to commend to you Dr. J.S. Wright, M.D.
He did most faithful service in the Army as hospital steward and in other capacities. At one time he was attached to my clerical force in Washington, where he gave special satisfaction for his efficiency; and was ^{subsequent to that work} a surgeon attached to a hospital. He was crippled in his usefulness by the loss of his arm. He will give you a clear cut transcript of his record.

I recommend him to your kindly attention and favor. He will explain to you why a special act of Congress may be necessary to give him a reasonable pension ^{Recorded to} to his rank and service.

With ^{every} consideration and regard, I remain,

Very sincerely your friend,

Dear General Howard:

I am very glad that you can come to our meeting on January 20th at 2 P.M. The meeting is one of the most important that we have ever held. Matters involving half a million dollars for the college come up for action.

I have just made arrangements at the office of the Treasurer to have all your expenses paid. If by any possibility anything should prevent your coming, please telegraph me. We count absolutely on your presence to make a quorum.

General Oliver O. Howard, U. S. Army.
Burlington, Vermont.

My dear General:

It was very good of you to think of us on New years day, and to write me your first letter in the new year. And it is good to hear from you, and of all your immediate family, who are all very dear to us. Sorry to hear of sickness, but in that severe winter climate you must expect attacks to penetrate your armour of resistance. You should have made your home in this section, where people live forever or until they dry up and blow away.

However, you seem to have held your own individually, and I see nothing in the way of abatement of the vigor that used to wear us younger ones out many years ago.

I have had great pleasure in reading your Autobiography, much of which was familiar to me, but it revived old memories wonderfully, and brought back to my mind much that had got lost in the labrynth of recollections. I am glad you wrote it. You have said much of myself that is not deserved, but it is none the less pleasant to read. It will always be a comfort to me to have it by me, and has proved already an encyclopoedia to me of our national history.

You wrote it in an admirable Christian ^{spirit} ~~spirit~~. I wondered at the mildness of much of your criticism, and the tender manner in which you handled many who deserved stronger language. Hooker, for instance, and the Chancellorsville affair, and you even speak most kindly of that rascal Miles. But, on the whole, you have done well to deal with them as you have, for you have entirely disarmed hostile criticism.

I saw and read the Pacific Monthly article to which you refer. I do not know the writer, but of this you may rest assured, that the older officers of the army, and old residents of the Pacific coast, know the true facts in that case, and the younger generation who become familiar ^{with the} campaigns, all have a proper appreciation of your management of the Nez perces campaign. I have heard young officers of the army, who have studied ~~the campaigns~~, speak in great admiration of that wonderful campaign.

It is more than a month ago that I ordered your other work, on the "Hostile Indians", thourhg Gill & Co. here, but have not yet received it. I have harried them about it again, that they may hurry the matter, but I suspect that its being a subscription work has delayed their getting me a copy.

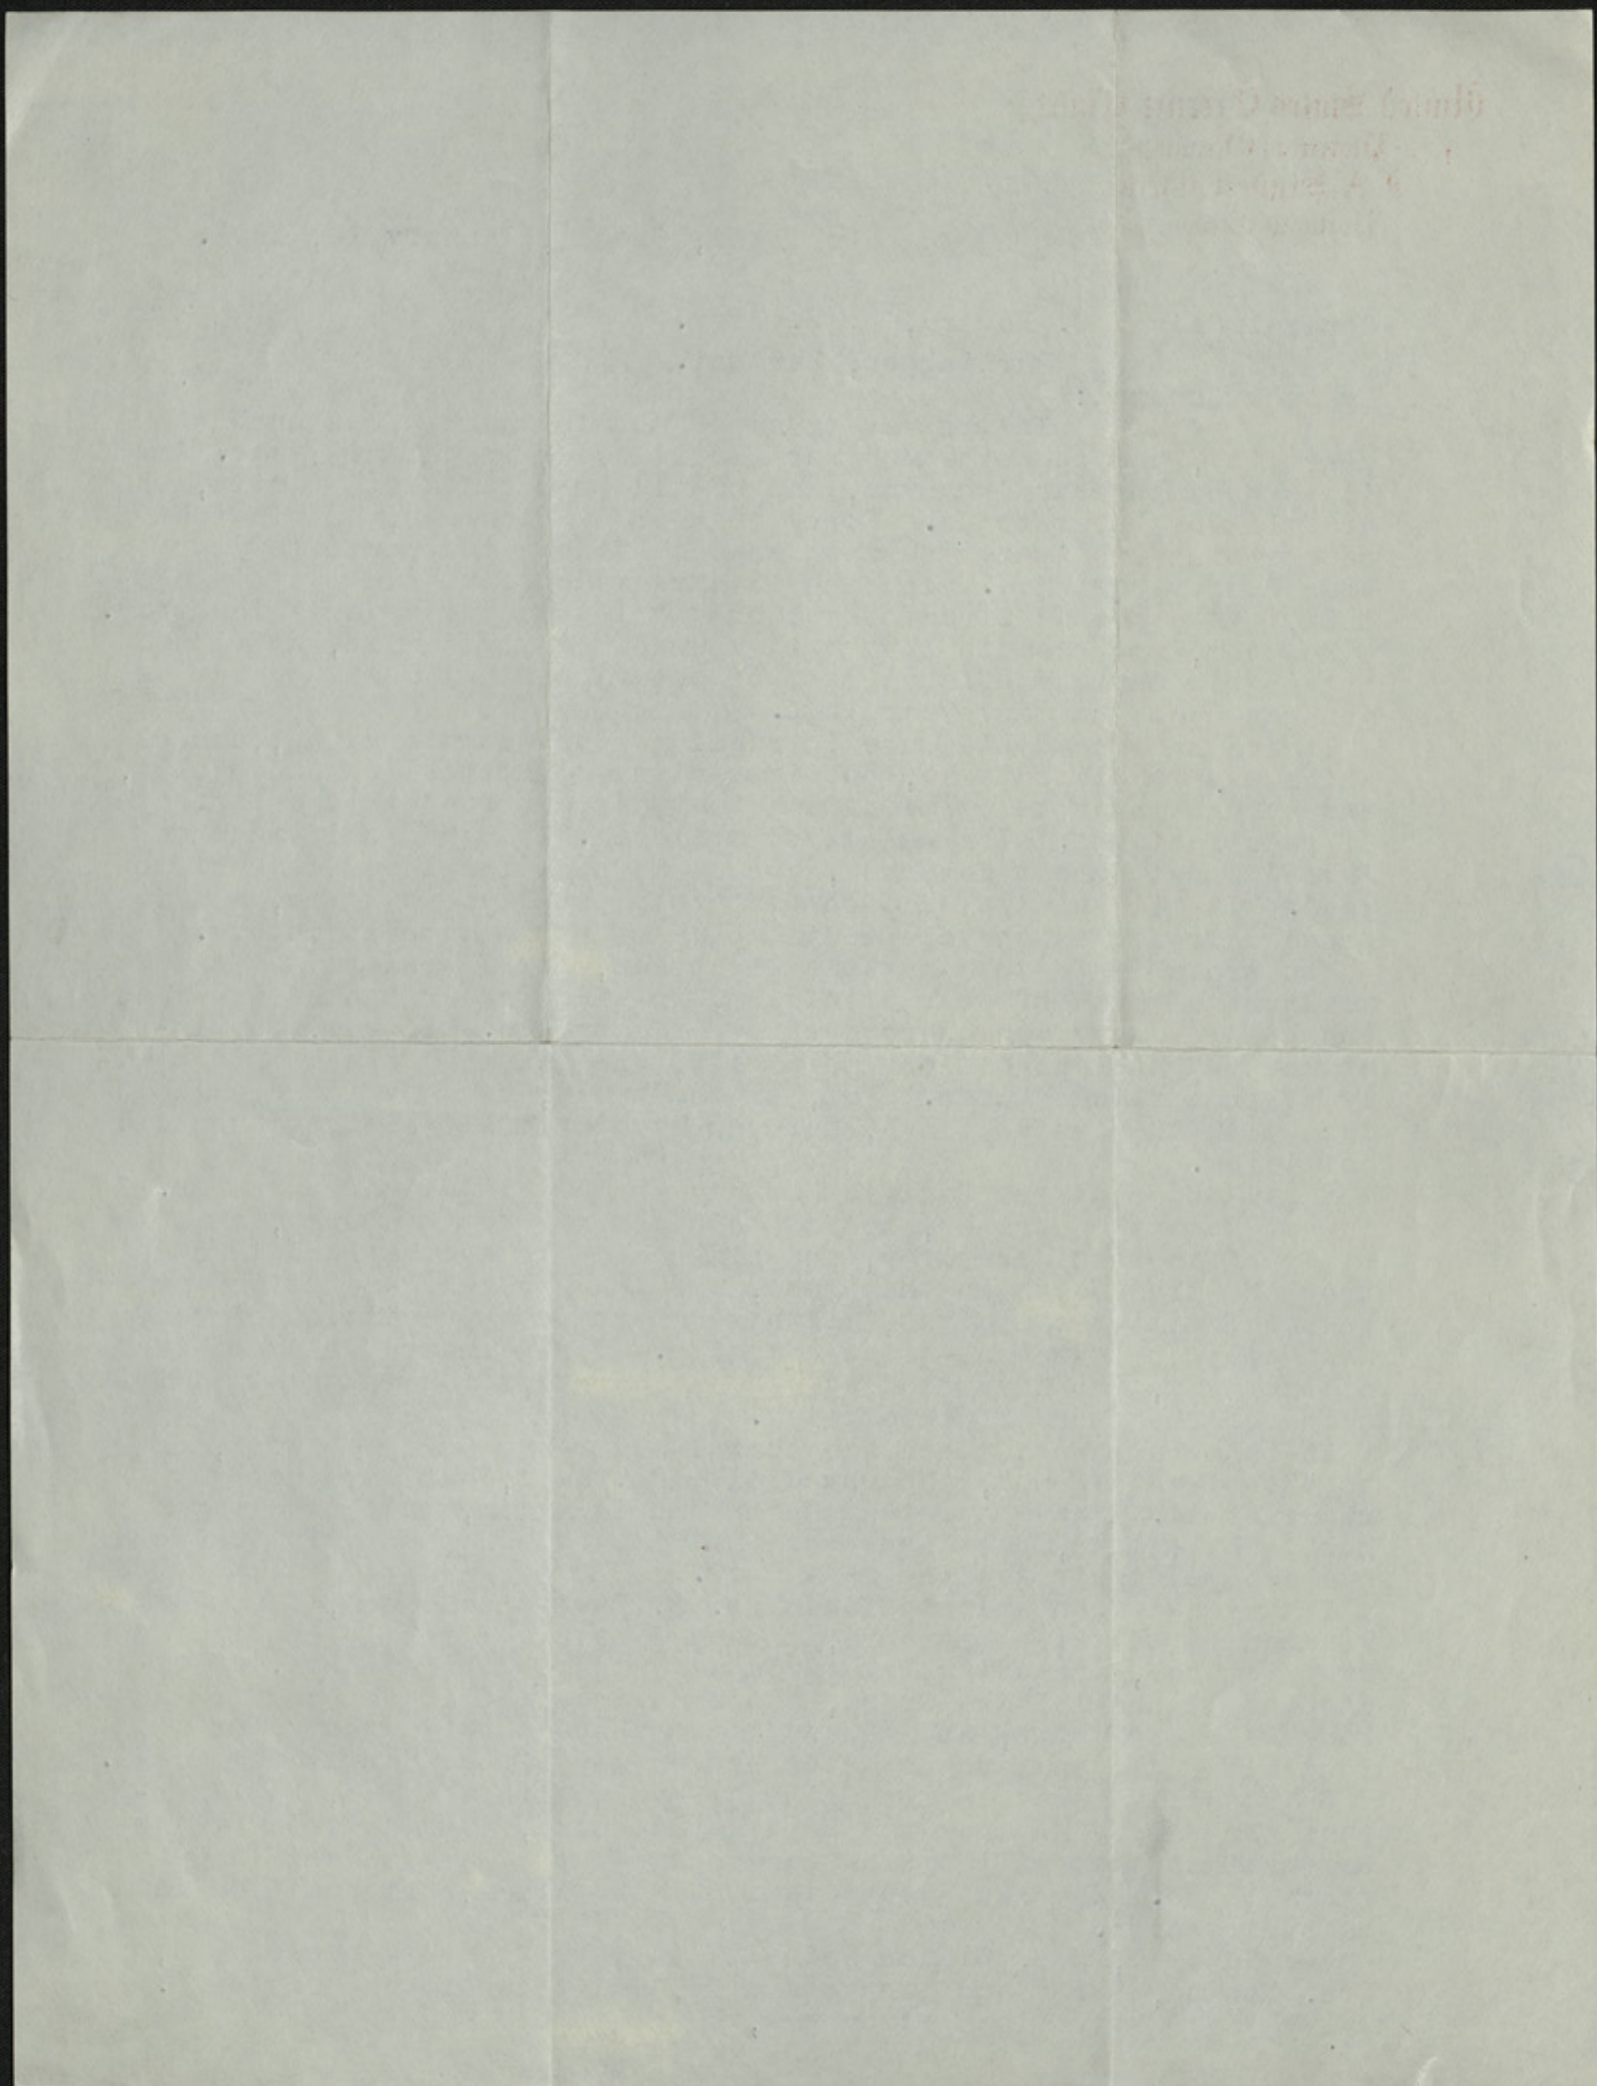

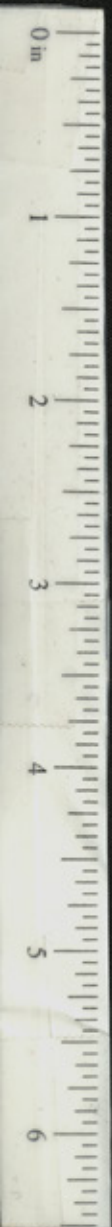

I have not been able to find Mrs. A. Louise Ackerson, for whom you sent a letter to my care, though I have diligently enquired of every source, including Wakefield and other old residents. I am keeping it until I see Grace, but she lives off in the country a long ways from town, and the weather has been very stormy for a long time, and so have not seen her or any of the family for weeks.

She usually comes in to our house every little while, but I expect the stormy weather has kept her at home, though it is pretty bad weather that will scare Grace out of going anywhere if she wants to go. She has a good deal of her father's disposition in that direction.

Dear General, Mrs. Sladen joins me in love to every one of you, Mrs. Howard, Harry and his good wife, and to your own dear self.

Very sincerely yours,

J. A. Sladen

Dear Mr. Worthington:-

I enclose some newspaper comments on my book "My Life and Experiences Among Hostile Indians." My friends without exception pronounce the work of absorbing interest. In it I have endeavored to tell the story of my life and personal experiences among the many Indian tribes with which I came in contact in four Indian wars as military commander, as well as among other tribes with which I had to do in times of peace. These extensive experiences are given with much care in this book and in no other. They are not included in my Autobiography. I excluded them from that work, and by foot notes simply referred the reader to this narrative for an account of my Indian campaigns and experiences.

Very sincerely,

than we do.

It was so kind of you to send the congratulatory letter, but it was characteristic, - always trying to make others happy.

The information concerning Lincoln Memorial University was cheering.

I read your interesting paper in the Mountain Herald, the organ of L.M.U. - my son sends the papers to me as fast as they come to New York.

Prof. Fairchild has written twice & my son writes weekly, sometimes he gives me information about the finances; he told me of the legacy of Ellery Forman, of $5000. What a blessed work is being done in that institution, - great, grand, noble; - its value grows upon us.

We are meeting no Americans, mostly French; a few English. With much respect, Darwin D. James.

General O.O. Howard, { Dear friend,
New York.

Your favor of 7th inst. was duly received. Your surmise as to the meaning of the expression, "fiftieth anniversary" was correct. If my son had used the words, "Golden Wedding" you would have recognized his meaning at once, you having celebrated the event in your own married life.

How marvelously good our Heavenly Father has been to us to spare his unprofitable servants & grant them so many years of happiness.

This last year has perhaps been the happiest, for we have been constantly together; in the ordinary home life we really see little of each other; we have led such active lives, Mrs. J. - has been away from home quite a good deal for her great society, the Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church, - she has been the practical head almost from the first year, - the organization is twenty eight years old, - the first year they gathered five thousand dollars, - for last two years the income has reached over half a million dollars each year.

To keep her going I have had to take her out of the U.S. three times, prior to our present trip, & have left her and the children over here in Europe for a year or more each time, - just to recuperate. - She is too deeply interested in affairs in her own country, to be quiet. She was badly used up when we left on the present trip. She was pushing the fight for the reseatting of Senator Reed Smart & trying to help Senator Dubois of Idaho, this, in addition to the customary duties in connection with the Home Missionary Society.

She is really improving very much this winter & we are now planning to be in New York early in April.

She with three others of the family spent the winter of 1897-8 in Hyères; it is a headquarters for Roses, Violets &c, in the line of flowers, for Paris, London & Berlin, besides the early vegetables sent to Paris. A train leaves each P.M. for the north, largely laden with flowers; it is an interesting neighborhood, historically & physically; we make daily excursions along the trails, over the hills & to neighboring villages; the Crusaders had a strong fortification upon the hill in our rear; this Hotel is located upon its southerly slope. The Moors were also located here in this part of Southern France as well as in Spain.

Probably, however, you know all about the Riviera country better

VOTES HIGH ARMY RANK

Senate for O. O. Howard on Retired List as Lieutenant General.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The Senate passed a bill to-day placing Major General O. O. Howard on the retired list of the army as a lieutenant general. General Howard is the only officer now living who commanded an army during the

MAJOR GENERAL OLIVER O. HOWARD.

The Senate yesterday passed a bill placing him on the retired list of the army as a lieutenant general.

Civil War. He also has received the thanks of Congress for meritorious services.

General Oliver Otis Howard is a native of Maine, where he was born in 1830. At the age of twenty he was graduated from Bowdoin College. He then obtained an appointment to the Military Academy at West Point. He was fourth in his class in 1854 and was made a second lieutenant in the ordnance department, seeing his first service at Watervliet, N. Y., and at the Kennebec arsenal, Maine. The next year, with the rank of first lieutenant, he was made acting professor of mathematics at West Point.

When the Civil War broke out he offered his services to his country and went to the front as colonel of the 3d Maine Volunteers. He commanded a brigade in the first battle at Bull Run and was made a brigadier general soon afterward. He took part in many battles, among them being Fair Oaks, Antietam, Gettysburg, Chattanooga and the Atlanta campaign. He was appointed major general of volunteers in 1863 and a brigadier general of the regular army for his work with Sherman in the march to the sea.

After the war he was head of the Freedmen's Bureau for nine years. In 1877 he engaged in Indian fighting, commanding the expedition against the Nez Percés. General Howard was superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point in 1881-'82. He afterward commanded the Department of the Platte, at Omaha; the Department of the Pacific and the Department of the Atlantic. He was retired with the rank of major general in 1894.

General Howard is the founder and now is president of the board of directors of the Lincoln Memorial University, at Cumberland Gap, Tenn. He is the author of a number of books, and recently wrote his war reminiscences. The degree of LL.D. has been conferred on him four times, and the French government made him a Chevalier of Honor in 1884.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

Engaged in Game Neither Wishes to Push to Limit.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—The reports of a Turkish mobilization in Armenia and the threatened movements of troops on the Russian-Persian frontier are admitted by the General Staff. It is not known yet whether this action on the part of Turkey is directed against Russia, and measures so far taken by this country are confined to certain precautionary dispositions of units within the Caucasus.

Foreign diplomats here believe that Russia and Turkey are engaged in a game which neither is desirous of carrying to an extreme, although Turkey might be willing to go far, depending on the supposed weakness of Russia because of her quarrel with Austria over the Macedonian question.

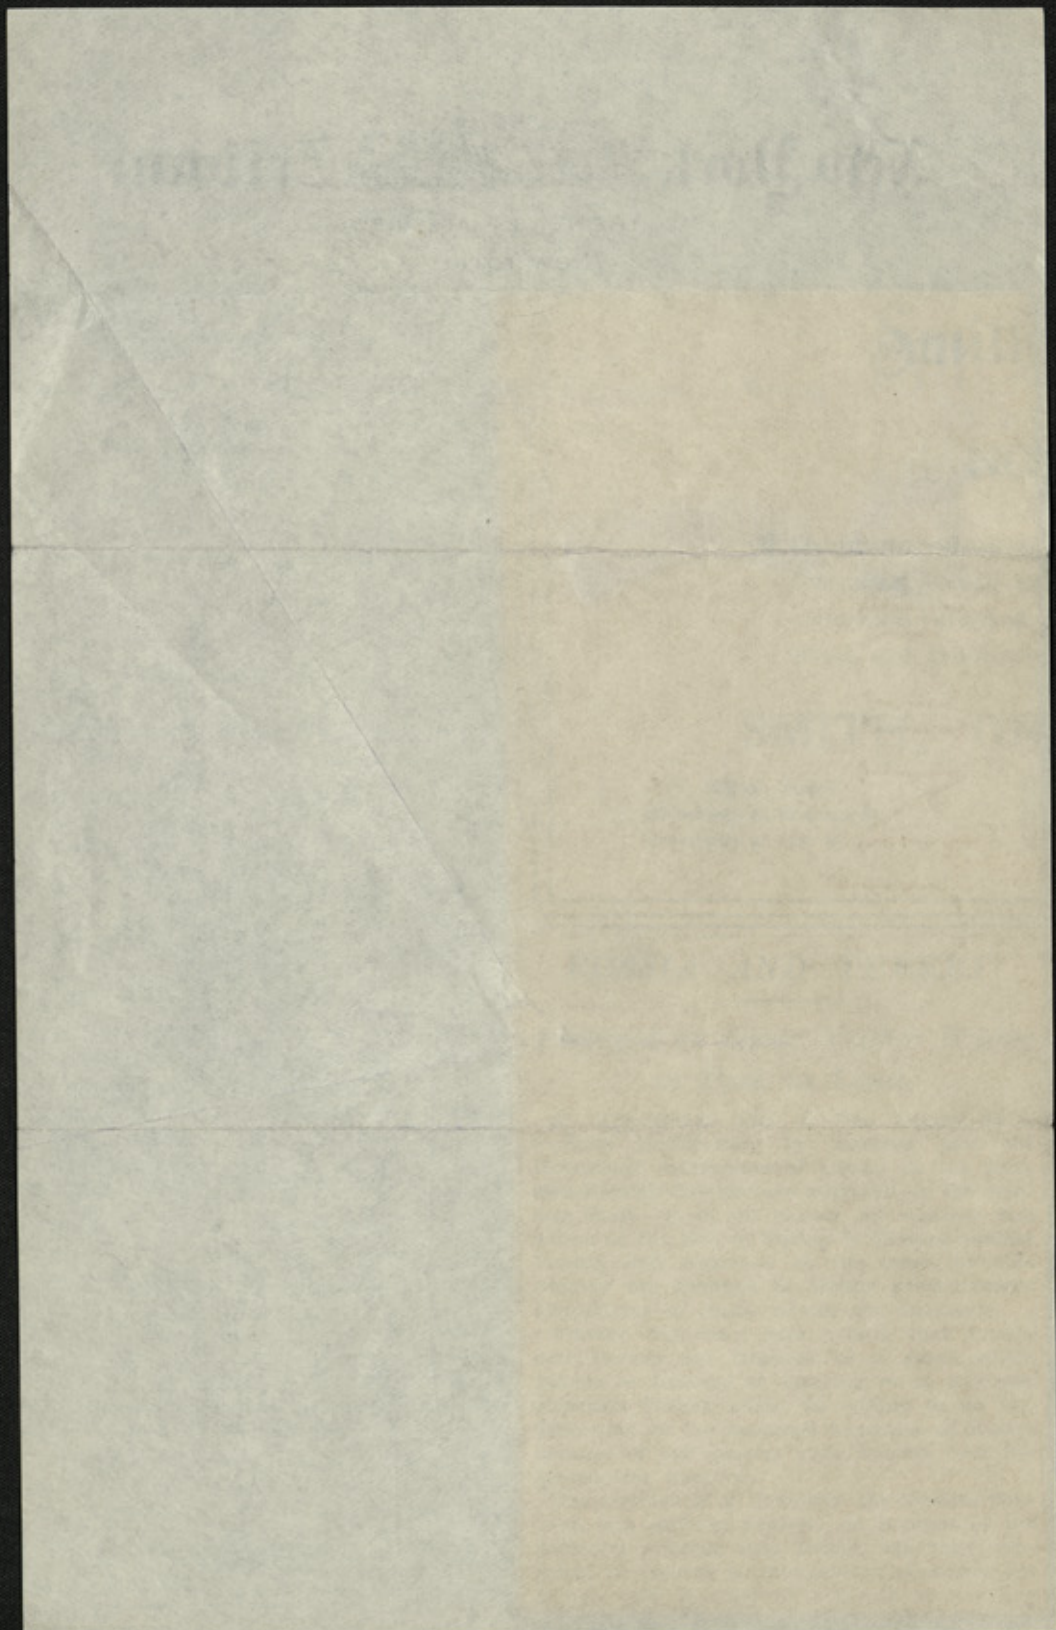

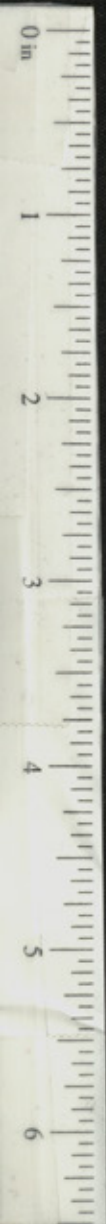

The prestige of M. Iswolsky, the Foreign Minister, has suffered severely on account of the defensive attitude that Russia has been compelled to assume in this matter, Austria's defection over Macedonian railroad construction and the failure to establish stable order in Persia, but the anticipated retirement of the minister is attributed here more to the interior situation than to international influences. The attack on M. Iswolsky is part of a general campaign the Pan-Slavist leaders have been conducting against the government. The Conservatives also are dissatisfied at Russia's failure to play a bigger role in the world's diplomacy, which would turn attention from home troubles.

NO BRITISH WARSHIPS FOR PACIFIC.

London, Feb. 6.—The Associated Press is officially authorized to declare that there is absolutely no truth in the report telegraphed from Halifax yesterday that the British squadron in the Pacific is to be materially increased. No changes whatever are being made or are contemplated in the China squadron, and the British government has not the slightest intention of replacing the old Pacific fleet, which formerly had its base at Esquimault, B. C., and which is now represented by a solitary sloop of war.

Dear Sir:-

We are now preparing our books for 1908 and I am anxious to make this the best list we have ever issued.

If you have any book mss. not yet placed I should like to have an opportunity to examine it. It doesn't matter what sort of mss. you send, so long as it possesses literary value and "salability"--I know just how difficult a combination this is, but if your opinion and the verdict of my readers agree, I think we will be able to make arrangements that will be entirely satisfactory.

We are just perfecting plans by which our books go on sale the day of publication with several hundred dealers, thus covering the entire country in the most systematic manner possible.

We have laid out a most complete advertising campaign and our own five magazines, each occupying a distinct field, also put us closely in touch with a very large buying public.

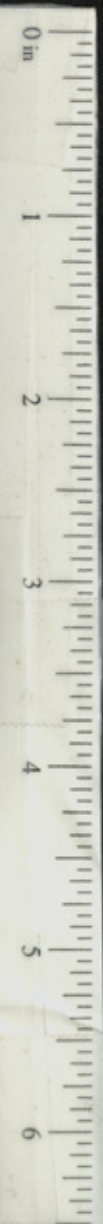

I have gone somewhat into details as I want to enlist your co-operation in building up a list worthy of the "push" we shall put into it.

I trust I may have the pleasure of hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Faithfully yours,

Richard G. Badger

Howard University

Washington, D. C.

February 25, 1908

My dear Gen. Howard:-

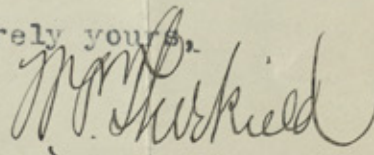

Permit me, with your many friends, to congratulate you on the recent honor bestowed by act of Congress, all of which you so richly deserve. Rest assured that Howard University, which is honored in bearing your name, rejoices in every mark of esteem that comes to you.

Would it not be possible for you to be with us before the end of the year, when we could have a public meeting testifying to the high esteem in which you are held by the students and friends of this University. You will be glad to know of the prosperity of the institution.

With cordial good wishes,

I am,

Sincerely yours,

President.

Gen. O. C. Howard,
Burlington, Vt.
