Gally - Another British attempt on Black Rock succeeded. Buffalo was taken <sup>after</sup> fifteen hundred militia ~~men~~ had been put to flight.

The regular Campaign of 1814 - opened with a small success Capt. M'Clun with regular troops defeated about 200 British at -

Crossing <sup>Lake</sup> Ontario the British sized Oswego - but lost <sup>himself</sup> in a subsequent encounter - Gen. Brown & Scott saved themselves <sup>for several months</sup> in dispersing & fitting out their troops - Then early in July they captured Fort Erie - and on the 4th of July Gen. Brown with a mixed force of whites & Indians about 2000 strong had a brisk engagement with the British Gen.
Rice and defeated 2500 at the Battle of Chippeway. Gen. Winfield Scott especially distinguished himself as his command & a successful benign charge against British regulars.

Again the battle of Lundy's Lane between Gen. Bloor & the British Gen. & Drummond ~~was~~ took place the 25th of July (1814) about 2000 against 3500. The British were really defeated. Scott made a harder fight than before. He was wounded & his successor <sup>in the night</sup> ~~was~~ <sup>chase</sup> off from the field. Drummond, who had fled, <sup>rejoined</sup> & took possession.

Drummond next undertook the siege of Fort Erie under Gen. Gaines, but did not succeed. A small action <sup>occurred</sup> again at Black Rock when

Gen. Jackson attacked Major Morgan command of 200 Americans - Morgan repulsed his assailants with loss.

The 17th of Sept. after Gen. Ross had come back to Fort Erie. <sup>in night a sally</sup> a heavy battle came off. The British assailants this time were about 600 & the Americans <sup>of equal</sup> less. Each Army claimed the battle - but as the British gave up the field.

it is regarded as a success for the U.S. - The 5th of November the red troops were drawn back from Canada.

An invasion of the U.S. from Lake Champlain <sup>to Plattsburgh July</sup> by Sir George Prevost with an army of over 12000. Commodore Mac Donough defeated & captured the British fleet on the lake. & Prevost fled. Portions of his army were captured & sent to the British.

In the same fall ~~several~~ <sup>under Gen. Ross</sup> against [1814] the British about 5000 <sup>Cherokees</sup> ~~Shawnee~~ came up the Chesapeake & the Potomac, & approached Washington by way of Bladensburg. Near this village a small <sup>army</sup> ~~army~~ was hastily gathered nominally commanded by Gen. Munden.
A skirmish took place in which Munden lost 26 killed & about 50 wounded, and Ross some 500 killed & wounded. Munden was defeated Washington taken, & the public buildings burned.

Gen. Ross made a similar expedition in Sept. against ~~the~~ Baltimore.
In this there was <sup>some</sup> ~~less~~ success. A battle at Long Point North Point & (Long-Island) there had been shameful neglect of preparation. But the British could do themselves with many inflicting temporary injuries & spreading terror.

The naval engagements except those mentioned were for the most part duels between <sup>(British)</sup> war-ships - as between the Belvidera & the President (American) - the Macedonian & the United States, the Constitution & the Java &c. &c.
