Regulations Concerning Barry Farm.

George T. Marble will hereafter take charge of the Barry Farm account books, having two Blotters and one Ledger for this purpose. One Blorder to be in the hands of Mr. Manning and one in his own hands each day for transfer of accounts to the Ledger. The Ledger shall be kept posted and shall be balanced once per week on a given day, say Friday or Monday.

After Mr. Manning will attend to contracts and duties as he sees fit, receiving payments and making full entries upon the Day Book for Blorder.

Luther Edleigh shall be Superintendent at the Farm, seeing that and attending to all the general interests of the people and the enterprise. He will keep a Day or Check Book showing

What lots have been sold.
2. Any payment that has been made.
3. Just how far behind in payments any party is at any time.
4. Whether parties have been notified to quit, and other and all facts and items of information necessary to form a complete check upon the accounts and books kept in the office at Bureau Headquarters.

He will also have charge of the matter of notification of parties as to payments due and any decisions that their contracts are forfeited for that or any reason. McSleigh will communicate with McSleigh whenever necessary on the subject, and all parties holding contracts will be required to pay up arrears while the warm season continues.

McSleigh will see the parties in person and explain and urge the importance of not getting behind in the payment.

He will deal kindly and considerately with the freedom and their families, but be strict in enforcing orders of this Bureau.
