IN MEMORIAM.

DIED,

At Boise Barracks, Idaho, on the night of Nov. 28th, 1886.

MRS. MAUDE GRIFFITH ANDRUS,

wife of Lieut. F. B. Andrus, U. S. A.,

And Daughter of Major Wm. H. Powell, U. S. A.

Mrs Andrus was born June 13th, 1864, while her father was with the 4th Infantry, in the arduous campaign of the Army of the Potomac from the Rappahannock river to the front of Petersburg; and at the close of the war, when barely seven months old, she began following the fortunes of her father with his company and has never left it, except while away at school.

As a child she was bright beyond her years; as a maiden she was pure, truthful and sincere; as a woman she was without reproach; as a wife she was devotion itself; and as a daughter she was all that a father or mother could hope for—sweetness, loveliness and charitableness being the component parts of her nature.

Giving birth to a fine boy on the night of October 31, 1886, Mrs. Andrus was, two days afterwards, attacked with puerpal fever, from which she never recovered, but died almost at the same instant her baby was born, after four weeks of painful suffering.

II. The Superintendent has to make to the Officers and Cadets of the Military Academy the painful announcement of the death this morning of Private André Freis, Detachment of Army Service Men, Quartermaster's Department, assistant to the librarian.

Private Freis enlisted at this Post May 1, 1841, and was assigned to duty as assistant librarian November 5, 1844, which duty he performed satisfactorily and continuously from that time forward. He was serving his 13th enlistment, the total length of his service being 52 years and 10 months. He was known and respected by all Officers who have been graduated at the Military Academy, and by all other persons connected with it, for half a century. The superior character of his service was recognized by Congress in 1871, when in making a substantial increase in the appropriation for the salary of librarian's assistant it provided that for that year it should be paid to André Freis, and to him alone. In his death the Academy has lost a highly esteemed and valued servant.

His long career presents a spectacle of resolution in endeavor, of fidelity to trust, and of loyalty to friends which may well be emulated by us all.

No. 62. }

The Superintendent announces with sorrow to the Officers and Cadets of the U. S. Military Academy, the death on the 23rd inst. of Mr. FRANCIS NEWLANDS, who for about forty-five years was connected with the Headquarters of this Institution.

Mr. NEWLANDS was born in Glasgow, Scotland, Nov. 24th, 1814, and came to this country in 1836.

In 1847, during the administration as Superintendent of the late General Henry Brewerton, Corps of Engineers, he entered upon the duties of the clerk in charge of the disbursements under the immediate direction of the Superintendent.

For nearly a half century, until prevented by serious illness, this noble and generous Scotchman attended with unflagging zeal and with unswerving integrity, to the multitudinous duties devolving upon him, winning the respect and love of all with whom he came in contact, by his unfailing courtesy, his gentleness of disposition and his manly straight-forward character.

During the last twenty years of his life, he did not leave the Post of West Point.

For a number of years he performed in the most satisfactory manner, the duties of Treasurer of the West Point Army Mess, having been the only civilian who ever held that position.

On the afternoon of the 25th inst. he was laid away among his old friends in our beautiful cemetery, and although no military salute could be rendered, just as the closing words of the burial service were being spoken, the surrounding hills reverberated with the thunder tones of the sea-coast battery, a sound he loved so well.

The dear old gentleman has gone to

ENTERED INTO REST

SOPHIA M., wife of ADAM S. PRATT, in her eightieth year—suddenly but most peacefully, surrounded by most of her loved ones—at midnight, Sunday, August second, 1896, in Hawthorne Cottage, at Rock Enon Springs, Virginia.

The funeral services were held in Washington on the afternoon of Wednesday, August fifth, and the precious body committed to its final resting place in Oak Hill Cemetery, awaiting the glorious resurrection.

On the eighth of May, two years ago, 1894, the Golden Anniversary of her wedding, the family—father and mother and their eight children—gathered in the home, an unbroken band, and now the dear Mother passes first, through the twilight into the perfect day.

Her children rise up and call her blessed : Her husband also,
and he praiseth her.—Prov. 31 : 28.

Thy pierced hand guides the mysterious wheels ;

Thy thorn-crowned brow now wears the crown of power ;
And, when the dread enigma presseth sore,

Thy patient voice saith, " Watch with Me one hour."

As sinks the moaning river in the sea

In silver peace, so sinks my soul in Thee !

98

STILL, STILL WITH THEE.

Still, still with Thee, when purple morning breaketh,
When the bird waketh, and the shadows flee;
Fairer than morning, lovelier than the daylight,
Dawns the sweet consciousness, I AM WITH THEE.

Alone with Thee, amid the mystic shadows,
The solemn hush of nature newly born;
Alone with Thee in breathless adoration,
In the calm dew and freshness of the morn.

As in the dawning o'er the waveless ocean
The image of the morning star doth rest,
So in this stillness Thou beholdest only
Thine image in the waters of my breast.

Still, still with Thee! as to each new-born morning
A fresh and solemn splendor still is given,
So doth this blessed consciousness, awaking,
Breathe, each day, nearness unto Thee and heaven.

When sinks the soul, subdued by toil, to slumber,
Its closing eye looks up to Thee in prayer;
Sweet the repose beneath the wings o'ershading,
But sweeter still to wake, and find Thee there.

*So shall it be at last, in that bright morning
When the soul waketh and life's shadows flee;
O, in that hour, fairer than daylight dawning,
Shall rise the glorious thought, I AM WITH THEE!*

MEMORIAL.

HANNAH W. (FORSTER) SUMNER.

Daughter of the late HON. THOMAS FORSTER, and his wife SARAH PETTIT MONTGOMERY, and widow of the late MAJOR GENERAL E. V. SUMNER, U. S. A., was born at Erie, Penn., on the 31st January, 1805, and died at Charlottesville, Va., in the evening of December 9th, 1880.

Hers was a life so combining singular gentleness with singular force, that it made its influence felt in every circle in which she moved. In her home, her presence was like a strain of sweet music, attuning the household to harmony. She bound her family to her by ties soft as silk, yet strong as steel, and retaining her hold upon them to the very last, it can be said of her with peculiar emphasis "Her children arise up and call her blessed." Of wide sympathies, she adapted herself naturally to persons of every age, and to her latest life knew how to be youthful with the youthful, as well companionable with those of her own age.

MEMORIAL.

HANNAH W. (FORSTER) SUMNER.

Daughter of the late Hon. Thomas Forster and his wife
Sarah Forster Montgomerie, and widow of the late Major General E. V. Forster, F. R. S., was born at Epsom, on the 31st January, 1805, and died at Chesham, Vt.,

in the evening of December 2nd, 1880.

There was a life so combining singular gentleness with slight force, that it made its influence felt in every state in which she moved. In her home, her presence was like a strain of sweet music, turning the household to harmony.
She found her faculty to her by her soft as silk, yet strong as steel, and retaining her hold upon them to the very last.
It can be said of her with peculiar propriety: "Her children raise up and call her blessed." Of wide sympathies she adapted herself naturally to persons of every age and to her latest life knew how to be faithful with the faithful as well as sympathetic with those of her own age.

Charitable in word and deed, no censorious utterances passed her lips, while many kindly offices for the poor engaged her hands. Religion, added to these lovely natural traits, its super-natural beauty, and she was a consistent follower of that Saviour to whom in early youth she dedicated her heart and life. Fond of living, she had no fear of dying. Death held some of her dearest—three children, and the husband of her faithful love and just pride. Fairer than earth's loveliest flowers, are the tributes we lay upon her grave in the truthful words,

"Having lived in the Lord, she died in the Lord."
